Fourteen Killed in New Jersey Blast

GAS TANK IN CAMDEN EXPLODES

Victims, Engaged in Cleaning Receptacle, Trapped in Interior.

CAUSE IS INDEFINITE

Four Hurt, Two Seriously; Relatives Crowd Rescue Scene.

By The Associated Press

CAMDEN, N. J., March 9—Four workmen were killed and four injured, two seriously, in an explosion in a purifying box at the Public Service Electric & Gas Co., plant here today.

Officials of the company gave out the following statement:

"The cause of the explosion has not been definitely ascertained, but is believed to have been due to spontaneous combustion.

"The latest information that we have is that there were at least 18 workers employed in the purifying box. Fourteen bodies have been recovered. Four employes were taken to the hospital. Later two were released. The other two men are in serious condition."

At least one man escaped from the purifying box without injury just prior to the blast.

Relatives of employes crowded the streets in the vicinity while police and firemen carried on rescue work.

The scene of the blast was made harrowing by the cries of relatives of the doomed men. Police roped off the streets a block from the gas tank. Spectators by the hundreds blocked the thoroughfares beyond the ropes.

A tremendous roar announced the accident while practically the entire force of workmen, many of them earning their first pay in weeks, were trapped below.

Flames Extinguished

A fierce torchlight flame which followed was speedily extinguished by the firemen and then the search within the chambers was begun.

Outwardly the tank showed no signs of the explosion. It is a square steel structure, 20 by 20 feet and 15 feet deep, raised from the ground on steel girders and longitudinally divided.

The metal interior was coated with a mixture of charcoal, sawdust and sulphuric and other acids used in purifying the gas which is then piped across the street to a distributing tank.

In the sawdust composition gas collects. Several times a year it is necessary to clean it and the workmen who had done this work before commenced today on the unusually heavy accumulation.

Tank Used for Purifying

The scene of the explosion was a tank used to purify gas which enters by one pipe, and after the purifying proceeds by an overhead pipe to the distributing tank. The men at work were assigned to remove impurities of the incoming supply.

The workmen entered the tank after the top was lifted off.

12 Students To Get Free Trip to N. Y., Washington

15 Marion Merchants, Erie Railroad and The Marion Star Sponsor Travel Contest for High School Juniors and Seniors.

A group of Marion merchants, the Erie railroad and The Marion Star will make it possible for 12 high school students to be picked from Marion and 35 surrounding communities to take a five-day vacation trip next summer with all expenses paid.

It will be a trip replete with educational and entertaining experiences and sights, including visits to the most interesting spots in New York and Washington, D. C. The educational features of the trip are built around visits to the birthplace and home of George Washington, whose bicentennial is being celebrated throughout the country this year.

A variety of vacation attractions which, if an individual were to visit them, would require two weeks' time and an expenditure of perhaps $200, have been crammed into five days by careful planning and by the chartering of a special Pullman car and special busses.

2,000 May Compete

Two thousand high school seniors and juniors may make themselves eligible in the 1932 Marion travel contest by making a $1 purchase at any of the participating Marion stores helping to sponsor the contest. This purchase entitles the student to a coupon representing 100 votes in the contest. For every $1 spent in purchases at these stores during a 10-week period beginning March 11 and ending May 21 a 100-vote coupon will be given the purchaser to be assigned to a high school junior or senior of his or her choice.

Three Marion high school students and one student each from nine districts into which the 35 surrounding communities have been divided, will be given the free vacation trip. District lines have been drawn so that each district will have the same number of eligible pupils.

Students receiving the greatest number of votes in their district during the 10 weeks of the contest will be winners. Standings in the contest will be announced each week.

Public and parochial high school seniors and juniors will be eligible. The contest was limited to seniors and juniors at the request of high school principals.

TOWNSHIP TAX LEVY TOO HIGH

Failure of Claridon School Board To List Balance Cause of Error.

RATE WILL BE REDUCED

Excess Payments Will Be Deducted from Bills Due Next June.

The county budget commission today prepared to take three mills off the tax rate for 1932 in the Claridon township rural school district, at the request of the district board of education.

An investigation growing out of protests of taxpayers of the districts disclosed an oversight which fixed the rate of 19.84 mills levied in that district approximately three mills higher than will be necessary, County Auditor Earl E. Thomas said this morning.

Will Save $4,224

Reduction of the tax rate will represent savings of $4,224 to Claridon school district taxpayers this year, the auditor said. Since the bulk of the December collection is already in the hands of the county treasurer, the savings for the entire year will be deducted from the second semi-annual collection, due in June, he explained.

Auditor Thomas this morning issued a statement explaining how the unnecessary three mills were levied this year. Failure of the district school board, in the preparation of its budget last August to estimate its probable balance in the general fund as of Jan. 1, 1932, was blamed by the auditor for the excessive rate levied in the district.

In a blank space on the budget for the estimated balance, the board made no entry of any kind, leading the budget commission to believe that the board would have no Jan. 1 balance, the auditor said.

Full Amount Levied

As no balance was anticipated by the commission, it levied the full amount, $12,500, requested by the board for its general fund as it is required by law to do so as long as the district rate for general purposes remains within the 15-mill limitation, the auditor continued.

Not until Jan. 20, when the board filed a statement with the auditor showing the district's balance of $7,007 in the general fund as of Jan. 1, did county officials know that the district had any balance at the end of 1931.

Changing the tax rate in the middle of the year will entail considerable extra work for the auditor and the treasurer, officials said this morning. Taxpayers of the district are asked to pay only their first half taxes during the current collection in order that the three-mill deducations can be made in the second half due in June.

Members of the Claridon township board are W. C. Wilcox, H. G. Kraner, I. J. Gruber, Roy Epley and M. V. Lashey.

KIDNAPING NEWS HEADQUARTERS

WINTER RECORD SET WITH MERCURY AT 3

Temperature Nears Zero Mark Here; Cold Adds to Toll of Lives in U. S.

Winter weather ruled in the United States today. It claimed at least 33 lives in the east, and left its mark in Marion last night when the temperature fell to three degrees above zero. Last night's reading was the lowest this winter.

No relief is in sight in the Ohio forecast for tonight and Thursday: Continued cold tonight and Thursday, snow flurries tonight.

The Associated Press dispatches tell stories of suffering in all parts of the United States caused by heavy winds, snow, sleet and rain.

High for Day 19

Last night's cold in Marion was described by the local weather bureau as a "still" cold, with the high winds of Sunday and Monday abated, leaving Marion in the grip of a clear, intense cold wave. A year ago the maximum temperature in Marion was 35 and the minimum was 25. Yesterday's high here was 19.

From the Rockies east and south cold prevailed during the night. In Kansas four victims died, including an elderly couple found dead of exposure. Snow, sleet and rain blustered through Texas. Snow as deep as 30 inches and cold as severe as 24 below wrought misery in the Rockies.

The latest deaths from the cold were at Cleveland, where there were two victims yesterday.

Many southerners saw the first snowflakes of the season. Low temperatures blighted fruit, flowers and vegetables.

The northeast was digging out of deep snow. On the Atlantic a dozen vessels were in distress.

The crippled collier, H. F. De Bardeleben rolled helplessly on the North Atlantic, waiting for the seas to moderate so her crew of 34 could take to lifeboats. Two coast guard rescue boats were damaged by the storm.

Search Delayed

High winds held down airplanes waiting to search off the New Jersey coast for a coal barge and two fishing schooners, missing with 18 men. The barge Deepwater was listed missing at Norfolk, while off Mississippi the steamer Gulfpenn took the fishing schooner Snapper King in tow when she lost rudder and anchor.

East of Cape Charles the motorship Tidewater picked up six fishermen from a smashed vessel. The distressed steamer Virginia reached Ludington, Mich., fleeing a storm in the lakes.

Most of the east expected more snow today. It already had plenty. Some communities in New York were still isolated. Milk shortages threatened yesterday at Rochester and Buffalo, when trucks stalled. At Oswego a sick woman was taken to a hospital by sled. About 40 people marooned in busses near Batavia were finally rescued. Twenty or more passengers spent a night in a snow-stuck train near Geneva.

URGES MORE TAXES ON BIG BUSINESS

By The Associated Press

LANCASTER, O., March 9—The "big interests" now operating profitably, must be called upon for higher taxes, in the opinion of former Governor Myers Y. Cooper.

Cooper, a candidate for nomination to the office he lost to Governor White, in the last election, expressed his opinions on taxes in an address before the Lincoln Republican club here last night.

Recommending a 25 per cent tax reduction for the farmer, home owner and small business man, Cooper said it is "not only a matter of elemental justice, but in my opinion, it is an essential prerequisite to the prosperity, happiness and well being of our people."

ROUTE MARKERS UP ON STATE HIGHWAYS

Two sections of highway recently taken over from the county by the state highway department were given official route numbers today. State route 95, entering Marion from the east, has been extended to LaRue by way of Center street and the Agosta pike. State route 231 entering Nevada from the north, has been extended into Marion county as far as Morral, crossing route 23 at Brush Ridge.

The Marion-LaRue road which in the future will be known as route 95, is the first link of a highway which will eventually join Marion and Bellefontaine, giving a direct route to the Indian Lake for traffic passing through this city.

Announcement that the new sections of state highway have been given official numbers was made by V. J. Hopkins of Delaware, superintendent of route markings in the state highway department. Markers were erected today.

ALLEGED KIDNAPERS PLEAD NOT GUILTY

By The Associated Press

WARREN, O., March 9—Two accused abductors of Jimmy Dejute Jr., 11, son of a wealthy Jute contractor, made preparations today to defend themselves from charges of kidnaping with intent to extort. If convicted they would face a maximum punishment of life imprisonment.

The men, Darrell Montgomery, 21, and Johnny Dellaria, 20, both of Youngstown, pleaded not guilty yesterday, and their trials were set for Tuesday.

BUCYRUS MAN OUT FOR WARNER'S POST

J. D. Sears Files as Candidate for Eighth District Republican Committeeman.

J. Dudley Sears, prosecuting attorney of Crawford county, today filed a declaration of his candidacy for a seat in the Republican state central committee, challenging the candidacy of Fred W. Warner, Marion Republican who has represented the Eighth district in the committee for years and who is a former chairman of the state committee.

Sears stated this morning that Republicans from over the district had asked him to oppose Warner for committeeman because of Warner's anti-Hoover activities recently.

He also expressed the opinion that many Republicans in the district would support him on a loyalty-to-Hoover platform as contrasted with Warner's repeated criticism of the President.

The Bucyrus candidate is finishing his second term as prosecutor. He said he believed he could "be of service" to his party as a member of the state committee.

Charles F. Schaber, former Crawford county probate judge, this morning declared his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for congressman from the Eighth district.

Two candidates for Marion county prosecutor filed declarations of their candidacy yesterday. They are Russell M. Wilhelm of 190 west Columbia street, Democratic incumbent, and C. A. SMITH LOSES TO ROOSEVELT

GETS FULL DELEGATION

Contest First Test of Strength in Fight To Head Democratic Ticket.

By The Associated Press

CONCORD, N. H., March 9—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt is the winner of the first round in his battle with Alfred E. Smith for the 1932 Democratic Presidential nomination.

By a sweeping victory over Smith's forces in yesterday's state primary - their first test of strength at the polls and the first Presidential primary of the pre-convention campaign—Roosevelt gathered New Hampshire's eight votes in the national convention into his column.

With a few scattering returns from some of the state's 224 towns and 11 cities still missing, the unofficial returns showed the eight Roosevelt pledged candidates for delegates-at-large elected by a margin of approximately 4,500.

Four district delegates were elected. They also were pledged to Roosevelt.

A lighter vote than expected in the cities to which the Smith forces looked for their greatest strength, together with a rural vote generally favorable to Roosevelt, combined in the result.

An unopposed Republican ticket pledged to President Hoover, was elected.

Roosevelt leaders were jubilant at the result.

CHILD RETURNED SUNDAY, BOSTON MAYOR REPORTS

No Truth in It, Is Police Answer After Conference of Over Hour; Clue Reported from Bridge Tender.

MAY HAVE SEEN KIDNAPERS AND CHILD

Police Refuse To Answer When Asked If Lindbergh or Agents Have Had Recent Communication with Kidnapers.

By The Associated Press

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 9—Police at the Lindbergh home stated flatly today that the kidnaped Lindbergh baby was not in either the Lindbergh or Morrow homes and said they knew nothing of a report emanating from Boston that the child had been returned.

As soon as it was reported from Boston that Mayor James M. Curley had what he considered reliable information concerning the baby's return, the following question was framed and sent to the police headquarters at the Lindbergh home:

"Mayor Curley of Boston has announced that he has received information from an 'authoritative source' that baby has been returned on Sunday night and that the police had been cleared away from the Lindbergh home to give the kidnapers 72 hours in which to make their getaway. Has the baby been returned? Is Mayor Curley correct in any respect?"

Hold Conference of More Than Hour

Police conferred for more than an hour on this and other questions submitted at the same time and then replied to the question about the baby's alleged return: "We know nothing of this."

Another question as to whether the baby was now in the Lindbergh or Morrow homes the police answered flatly, "No."

Earlier, a rumor that something would happen at the Morrow home caused a flurry of excitement in Englewood, but early this afternoon nothing had materialized there.

Police of Niagara Falls, N. Y., were seeking J. Norman Beck, dog race promoter, and a possible companion named "Archie," at the request of New Jersey state police, who wanted to know the whereabouts of these men at the time of the kidnaping.

"Archie," police said, was discharged from the employ of the late Dwight W. Morrow, after serving the latter in Mexico, and had a record as a smuggler and kidnaper. Buffalo, N. Y., police joined in the search and learned that Beck was last seen there in the spring of 1930.

"Progress" Reported

Progress! It was the new word of hope in the search for an eaglet overlong missing from his nest.

It came from the lips of the spokesman for the New Jersey state police at Trenton. They are the agency designated at the outset by Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh as the official bureau of information concerning news of their stolen son.

Police checked a possibility that the kidnapers crossed in a green coupe from Perth Amboy, N. J., to Tottenville, Staten Island, at about 10:45 p. m., the night the baby was stolen.

James L. Dalton, toll collector at the bridge crossing which links Perth Amboy and Tottenville, said he had seen such a car. In it were two men, a woman and a baby, the latter clothed in a white sipper suit.

Port authority officials forwarded the report to Newark police, but did not explain to the press why Dalton's information was not given sooner. Johnson's coupe is green, but there was no intimation he was in any way connected with the kidnaping.

State police would not say that any word had been received from the persons who took the child from his second-floor nursery crib the night of March 1.

They declined to discuss the activities of private investigators or even those of certain branches of the state police itself.

Mystery Trip Reported

They were silent concerning a mysterious journey made late yesterday by one of Col. Lindbergh's representatives.

Nor would they comment on reports that spread with the speed of an airplane last night that the long-awaited "break" in the case was only a few hours away.

The question was asked:

"What are the latest developments in the police investigation?"

Has there been some valuable clue from the long days of questioning Henry (Red) Johnson, boyfriend of the baby's nurse (Miss Betty Gow), who still is held by Newark police without formal charges?

The police would not say.

The police were not to be drawn into explanations. Their duo-syllable answer was

"Progress."

POLICE SILENT ABOUT RUMOR

"No Answer" to Question on Reported Message from Kidnapers.

By The Associated Press

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 9—Police at the Lindbergh home maintained strict secrecy today concerning reports that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh or his representatives were in communication with the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby, stolen from its crib March 1.

The question was broached in the first list of queries submitted by the press this morning.

"Has Col. Lindbergh, Col. Henry Breckinridge, his attorney, or any other agent of Col. Lindbergh's been in communication with the kidnapers during the past 12 hours?" was the question heading the list submitted at 8 a. m.

Shortly after 9 a. m. the answers were telephoned from the Lindbergh home, and the notation opposite the first question was: "No answer."

More Communicative

Though police would say nothing about the activities of Col. Lindbergh or his civilian representatives, they were more communicative about the results of their own investigation, which results were purely negative.

Early last night they reported police "progress," though they would not say what that progress was. At midnight they reported "no change." In the 8 o'clock questions this morning they were asked:

What the earlier progress had been still remained a mystery.

Other questions asked this morning and Major Schoffel's answers follow:

Is Johnson (suitor of the baby's nurse) still held at Newark police headquarters?

We have not been informed of his release.

POLICE FEAR NEW OUTBREAK

Dearborn Officials Watch for Repetition of Monday Ford Plant Riot.

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Mich., March 9—Authorities went about their investigation of Monday's fatal riot at the gates of the Ford Motor company's plant with an eye out for new trouble that might develop from a meeting called for Friday to plan further demonstrations and a mass funeral for the four dead Saturday.

The meeting and the mass funeral were announced in hand bills circulated yesterday.

New City Relief Plan Proposed by Committee

Council of 100 Presents Findings of Study at Meeting at White Oaks; Public Officials Will Consider Plan Before Friday Night.

A new set up for dispensing relief in the city was offered to city officials and representatives of the various organizations doing relief work by the Council of 100 last night as a solution to the relief question. The meeting was held at the Sawyer sanatorium and was presided over by Dr. Carl W. Sawyer.

In presenting the plan, Dr. Sawyer explained the council was not finding fault with the manner in which the relief work has been carried on by the city. "In fact," he said, "I think the officials are to be commended upon the manner in which the work has been carried on, in the face of the increase in the demand for help." The city was represented by Mayor W. C. Phillians, Safety Director Emery M. Murphy, City Auditor Landes, J. E. Messenger, president of council and a number of council members.

Would Coordinate Groups

The plan provides for an advisory committee which would serve as a connecting link between the city relief department and the semi-public, semi-private and private groups and individuals engaged in welfare work. A clearing house would keep a record of all relief work.

Carbon copies of all orders issued by the relief or employment departments of the city would be forwarded each night to the clearing house as would reports of each organization doing relief work. In this way, Dr. Sawyer explained, the clearing house would have a complete record of all the families receiving aid. These records would not be open to the gaze of the curious, Dr. Sawyer said. The same care would be taken to shield those receiving help from the city, as that now being practiced, he said.

The plan would also provide for the establishment of an employment agency which would also work through the clearing house.

No Cost Involved

The plan, Dr. Sawyer said, could be established without one cent of additional cost to the city. F. O. Tuttle, who was recently employed by the city to assist in handling the city's unemployment relief would be placed in charge of the employment agency while those now serving in the relief department would continue under the new plan. The advisory committee members, Dr. Sawyer said, would serve without pay as would the clearing house workers.

Since the plan was only submitted to the officials and organization representatives for consideration, no definite plan as to details has been worked out. Dr. Sawyer said he believed members of the Council of 100 would carry on the work of the clearing house.

The plan, Dr. Sawyer said, was the outcome of investigations made by a committee composed of Fred E. Guthery, John P. Probst, C. A. Klunk and Mayor W. C. Phillians which was appointed at a meeting held last month.

A general approval of the plan was voiced by the city officials. Mayor Phillians said he believed an actual test of the plan would be the best proof of it's advisability and assured the Council of the full cooperation of the relief department. Emery M. Murphy who as safety director is head of the city relief work voiced approval while City Auditor J. L. Landes assured the council of his whole hearted cooperation.

Shows Comparative Figures

As a proof of the need of such a plan, Dr. Sawyer showed by a series of charts, the growth of the relief problem. The number of families receiving help from the city, he said has grown from 35 in 1929, to 1,695 at the present time while the amount of money spent in relief work has grown from $4,442.23 in 1929 to $43,127.81 in 1931. He set an estimate of $60,000 for relief work this year.

The city officials and representatives of the various organizations were given until Friday night to decide whether they wanted to adopt the new plan. Another meeting of the Council of 100 will be held at that time.

The plan, in addition to stopping duplication in the relief work, would also result in a more even distribution of the grocery and coal orders Dr. Sawyer believes. "Our investigations show that there has not been an even distribution of the orders, one dealer having obtained one $2 order last year while another received more than $11,000 worth. We are not charging that this was done deliberately, but with the vast number of orders that are being given out, this could happen very easily."

Mayor Phillians said a special meeting of city council probably would be called to act on the proposal.

AUTO HITS CAR AT RAIL CROSSING

John J. Hane of 364 east Church street escaped with a minor cut on his nose in an automobile accident early this morning on north Greenwood street. The front of his car, a Ford sedan, was demolished.

Hane, according to reports given Big Four railroad officials, drove the sedan into the side of a box car standing at the crossing while other cars were being switched.

Hane was taken to the rooms of the night watchman at the Huber Mfg. Co. and later received first-aid treatment from a local physician. He was driving south when the accident occurred.

PRES. HAYES' PAPERS FOUND

...portant Notes Give New ...ht on Strike Crisis of 1877.

By The Associated Press

...CINNATI, O., March 9—The ... of important notes, bearing ... the administration of ... Hayes during the critical ... the nationwide railroad ... riots of 1877, has been ... by Dr. George F. Howe, ...

assistant professor of history in the college of liberal arts at the University of Cincinnati.

Dr. Howe reported he discovered the notes, penciled by President Hayes and members of his cabinet, while examining some unclassified memoranda in the Hayes memorial museum and library at Fremont, O. They are said to be the only Hayes documents of their kind.

Commenting on the notes, most of them by the president Dr. Howe said: "The president and his cabinet at that time moulded the federal government's policy as to the use of troops to suppress rioting and destruction. These notes give an insight into the character of Hayes which is to be only partly obtained from his letters and diary. They help to show more clearly his relations with his cabinet members.

"Heretofore it has been believed that John Sherman of Mansfield, O., dominated the Hayes cabinet. Undoubtedly he was powerful in administrative affairs, yet these notes reveal that William M. Evarts was the leader in what may be termed the cabinet's policy.

"At the time of these cabinet sessions, the nation was feeling the effects of the most widespread and violent labor disturbances the United States had ever experienced. A series of riots in various parts of the country resulted in loss of life and property on an unprecedented scale."

The notes show that among cities calling for troops to control the strike situation were Cleveland, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Baltimore and Indianapolis.

Dr. Howe has edited, transcribed and prefaced the notes with a short explanatory introduction, and will make them available to research historians throughout the world in the American historical review.

Gee, aren't they wonderful?

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, March 10

THE astral forces of this day seem to rule with rather adverse influence, although this may be modified in favor of those in employment, who may look for some favor, recognition or promotion from those in authority over them. The mind may be sedate and serious, inclined to study and introspection. But be careful with funds, avoid law and loss through writings. Money may come from elderly friends. There is some hint of physical mishap as well as private anxiety.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year in which there may be favors, preferment or advancement from employers as well as financial assistance from elderly persons. But avoid litigation and trouble with writings and be on guard against personal and physical dansons. A child born on this day may be studious, serious and may find favor with employers and recognition from elders. It may encounter some sorrows or setbacks in its private affiliations.

MONEY WILL CIRCULATE

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif.—An effective gesture in national optimism and a practical measure against hoading will be given the country at the Shrine convention here next summer, it was declared today by William H. Woodfield, Jr., director general. Woodfield, who has just returned from a flying tour of the Northwest, announced that Oregon and Washington alone, are planning to send 5,000 delegates to the convention and to expend $1,000,000 on transportation, entertainment and maintenance.

LONG BOOSTER

Recently elected to be national Democratic committeewoman from Louisiana, Mrs. Emile Bienvenu of New Orleans will go to the Chicago convention hoping to place the name of Senator Huey Long in nomination as the Democratic standard-bearer. Senator Long attended the recent meeting of the state central committee and put his slate through, getting an uninstructed delegation without a hitch. It is expected the Louisiana delegates will swing to Speaker John Garner of Texas after the first ballot.

FLASHES OF LIFE

By The Associated Press

TORONTO—A Whir of wings interrupted John Beykuk's convincing protest in police court that he had nothing, absolutely nothing to do with the disappearance of 76 pigeons from his neighbor's coop. Two pigeons Lopped from his pocket, flew about the room, and settled on Hizzoner's desk. Now Beykuk's cooped too.

• • •

SHANGHAI—Armed conflict has its tragic aftermath. Scores of husbands and fathers, wives and mothers, young and old tearfully sift the ruins of shattered Chapei hoping their search may be unsuccessful, that somehow their loved ones may have escaped. A total of 807, of all ages, is unaccounted for.

• • •

WASHINGTON—Not that it makes any particular difference, but the chances are you ate a half pound more meat last year than you did in 1930. The agriculture department says so and it ought to know.

• • •

NEW YORK—Saved by a shirt is the experience of Milton Warner, 17. Marooned on a small island in Jamaica bay when his rowboat overturned, Milton remembered rule No. 1 of all good castaways, stripped off his shirt and used it to attract a police launch which took him ashore.

SAFE ON ONE WHEEL

By United Press

PUEBLO, Colo.—Art Prior, local aviator, dropped a wheel from the landing gear of his airplane while in the air. He set the craft down on one wheel, and jockeyed it to a safe halt, damaging the propeller slightly, but saving himself and a student flier from injury.

COURTESY WINS IN THEATER BUSINESS

Brothers Help Patrons on with Wraps; Success Follows.

By United Press

ST. LOUIS—The three Skouras brothers, Charles, George and Spyros, have proven it pays to help theater patrons on with their overcoats and wraps.

They started that policy back in 1912, when they bought the Olympia theater here—a nickelodeon.

Today the three brothers, who once herded sheep on a Greek hillside, control a chain of 550 theaters, and have financail interests in many more.

The story of their success is one of staunch blood ties, preverance, imagination and smiles.

Charles was the first to leave the hillside in Greece. He came to America in 1907, a youth of 18. The plan was for him to make enough money so he could bring another brother over. Then the two together were to earn enough to bring the third.

Charles started out as a bellhop, finally drifted to St. Louis in the same vocation, and then sent for Spyros and then George within two years. Their venture into the theater business, reportedly, was Charles' idea. Anyway it was a success. Friends who remember those days, said it was because of the way the brothers smiled, made patrons feel at home, and always helped patrons on and off with their overcoats.

They gradually expanded—a theater here in this neighborhood another there. Finally by 1924 they operated the best houses in the city. Then other fields called, and large syndicates became interested.

PER CAPITA COLD RATIO TWO YEARLY

By United Press

BOSTON—The average person has two common colds yearly, according to Dr. Wilson George Smillie of the Harvard school of public health.

Experiments conducted in isolated communities in the Harvard school indicate colds are "caught" by contact with some infectious agent, he says, and these colds pave the way for the secondary invasion of diseases such as pneumonia.

Daily Proverb—"History, which is, indeed, little more than the register of the crimes, follies and misfortunes of mankind."

A bill has been introduced in the New York state senate providing for a referendum on the death penalty. Hasn't the criminal world enough advantage over the law as it is?

Speaking about the working of governmental economies, the senatorial idea seems to be to turn the flow from the treasury off at the spigot and knock out the bung.

The senate seems unwilling to cut out useless bureaus in Washington, a test vote on the elimination of the bureau dedicated to the eradication of barbary, which for fourteen years has been at work, theoretically at least, on the job, showing but twenty out of sixty-six senators voting favoring the proposed saving of practically $200,000 a year. Still, all things considered, $200,000 a year for a little legislative fence-building isn't so much!

Kirby C. Jackson, of Chicago, the oldest employe of the Pennsylvania, was honored there Tuesday by officials of that road in celebration of his 100th birthday anniversary. Although he has not been actively engaged in railroading for thirty years, the fact that he lived to attain the century mark despite the fact of employment as an engineman the greater part of his working life, speaks rather well for the safety of rail travel.

The 774-carat diamond, which disappeared at the time Nadir Shah, the Persian conqueror, returned to Ispahan, Persia, from India in 1739 and was murdered, was rediscovered some weeks since in the demolishing of the home of a nobleman and is said now to be on its way to America. Just our luck! Why couldn't that gem have been regained before the economic recession set in?

Fred A. Victor, superintendent of the New York Anti-Saloon league, denounces newspapers which have intimated that the Lindbergh kidnapping is linked to prohibition. Maybe he is right in the matter, but it is a matter of fact that the boy kidnapped at Niles was found standing on a case of bonded whisky in a joint which formerly was used as a road house and was at the time of the recovery of the kid used by rum-runners.

Why Is a Critic?

Representative Sirovich from New York's Fourteenth district is out to rival Oklahoma's Representative McClintic, the lighter-than-air expert, in giving public service. Mr. Sirovich, like his more distinguished congressional colleague, Senator Copeland, is a doctor. Temporarily, however, he is a profound student of drama.

In a letter to dramatic critics asking them to appear before his patents commission this month, he warns these stage initiates that unless they help remedy the "frightful and deplorable situation" in which the legitimate theater finds itself they may be accused of being "the undertakers and pallbearers to the spoken drama, which they have almost destroyed."

The charge is interesting, though it is likely to be a bit irritating even to the bland self-possessed gentlemen and ladies at whom it is aimed. If dramatic critics have helped to reduce the spoken drama to a point where it lingers, uncertain, between life and death they should be held in scorn. But is that what has taken place?

It is the duty of the dramatic critic, as it is of any honest critic, to distinguish between the worthy and unworthy. If the critic be qualified, his opinions naturally become valuable. He becomes a leader of public taste and is rewarded by a fair income. If he is able to remain honest, he is in a position to perform valuable public services.

Dramatic critics have demonstrated clearly their conviction that the stage is in a sad shape. They have examined carefully, have even been lenient, without finding anything to praise. They have complained bitterly that there is nothing on the stage that measures up even to moderate standards. In short, they have persuaded the more intelligent part of the stage-interested public that lean days should be the punishment for the theater's sins, particularly those of the spoken drama.

If the spoken drama dies, Representative Sirovich warns, critics may be accused of being "undertakers and pallbearers," which would mean, of course that their jobs would be in grave danger. Unconsciously, Mr. Sirovich has paid dramatic critics a great compliment by recognizing their honesty. If that fact ever is revealed to him he may suddenly realize that he has fallen into the error of placing the cart before the horse.

The theater is not being killed. It is killing itself.

Results.

The machinery of reconstruction has been set in motion. It has been grinding steadily away for almost a month. What are its results?

Among other things showing improvement, there were fewer bank failures over the country in the month of February than during any month since last June.

From February 17 to March 3 only one national bank failed while three were reopening. In the entire month of February, seven national banks reopened; only one reopened in January.

Total bank failures during the month declined in similar fashion. Complete figures are not available, but failures declined two-thirds from the January record. In February, 1931, there were on the average of two more failures a day than in February this year.

Approximately $[illegible] of hoarded currency is believed to have been returned to circulation during the same period. During the seven days ended March 2, the federal reserve board announced that $[illegible] had been returned to banks, although the flow might have been expected to go in the other direction owing to end-of-the-month bill settlements.

Every week since February 3 the amount of currency outstanding, which is the index of hoarding, has decreased. It means that confidence is returning slowly, but surely.

These facts qualify as evidence that efforts in behalf of reconstruction are bringing results. The Reconstruction Finance corporation, the liberalization of federal reserve restrictions effected by passage of the Glass-Steagall banking bill, and the Citizens' Reconstruction organization are getting their teeth into the economic recession bogey. Skeptics have been wondering what good efforts the reconstruction program might cause. The answers aren't hard to find.

"League Talks On as Battle Rages in the Far East," reads a headline over a Geneva story. Talking, it may be said, is one of the league's accomplishments.

Senator Vandenberg, of Michigan, has introduced a bill to prevent profiteering in time of war by the fixing of prices. Let us hope that occasion to utilize such a bill never develops, but if it does, there should be a supplementary measure to conscript wealth and labor, as well as men.

What Does Wall Street Fear?

There can be no doubt that Wall Street, the magic name of speculative finance, means as much in the outlying country today as it did in the fat-fat days when people left their work to keep in touch with their home town brokers. The lambs carry their wounds bravely, if not gratefully. And there is the considerable comfort of knowing that the wolves, too, came away from the black October of 1929 with scars.

An inquiry into the methods and principles, cause and effect, use and abuse of stock exchange machinery for buying or selling on credit attracts national interest and should be of national benefit, therefore. It will be opened this week. Fair hearings on all aspects of the situation are promised. The problem of short selling, which has been kept from public attention as long as possible is to be gone into thoroughly at last.

What does Wall Street fear? Why has it tried to divert congress from the action it now is ready to take? If short selling serves the worthy purpose claimed for it to offset constant speculation for a rise, why should Wall Street be unwilling to defend it publicly?

The answers may be given in the course of the inquiry, assuming that it will be successful, but pending the [illegible] a query may be permissible. Is it possible that Wall Street is not two things, a political investigation of a business matter, and discloses that the principle of short selling is not always the practice? Politicians are likely to be a little hopeful in their views and decisions when they are working on a problem as close to economic recovery as the stock market. Speculation for a decline, furthermore, is likely to be accompanied by methods that scarcely could be explained in such a way as to convince public opinion that the end justified the means. A fair investigation can do a vast deal of good for the stock market, if it has nothing to hide.

Goliath Behind the Scenes.

Only recently, following the agreement on wages between railroad management and labor, there was a suspension of intense interest in that great branch of transportation. It is safe to say that Americans know more about railroads and their problems as one result of the hard times than they do about any other single industry. They think of railroads as the employers of the largest labor group and they are acutely aware of the importance of railroad securities in the national financial structure.

In contrast to this extraordinary awareness is the public attitude toward the building industry which, though employing a million men more than the railroads did in 1931, is considered only rarely as a unit in the national business structure. Perhaps this is because its component parts are so huge—the wholesale lumber industry, the retail lumber business, contracting business, home finance business and all the rest. It should not be forgotten incidentally, the part building materials play in the freight traffic of the railroads.

The national outlay on building began to decline correctly in 1925. It is commonly held that the saturation point in building had been reached, but, as was pointed out only recently, there is a fortune ready for the man who can design and build a satisfactory house for less than $5,000. A vast field in housing lies fallow awaiting new enterprise in the building industry. Opportunities for palaces and skyscraper building are limited; millions who want satisfactory housing at prices they can afford still wait to be served. President Hoover's interest in housing therefore, is not dictated solely by interest in social welfare. His housing program is entitled to attention as part of the general reconstruction plan. It merits support.

THE YEARLY HEADACHE!

Editorial Opinion.

WARMING THE ADDER.

Robert P. Lamont, son of the secretary of commerce, has gone to Russia to consider operating a soviet scheme to develop the cattle industry.

Mr. Lamont is a scientific cattle breeder. His Edgemere ranch, near Denver, is recognized as a world model. After a survey of the situation in Russia, Mr. Lamont may accept the offer of the soviet government. Such acceptance, he says, would be dependent upon the willingness of the country to undertake its cattle-breeding problems in a scientific way rather than on any question of salary, though the salary offer was said to be $50,000 a year.

With reference to his consideration of the Russian offer Mr. Lamont asserted that it held no political significance. Perhaps not in a definite sense. But the development of Russia in mining, agriculture, railroads, lumber, all departments of business and industry considering the sincerity of the soviet's avowed and unalterable purpose to encourage, foster and enforce a world revolution against the capitalist system carries with it a political significance recognized by most students of government and economics. A powerful soviet Russia could not well be helpful to the interests and ideals of the American government or any other dedicated to the principles of freedom and the encouragement of individual initiative.

And yet some among the ablest of our experts in the fields of industrial and agricultural development, transportation and the like, are being attracted to Russia and utilized in the gigantic task of making that country a superior factor in world affairs, to elevate its [illegible],000,000 of people to a standard of parity with this country.

If Russia and its political and industrial system are to succeed it can only be at the expense of all present tradition and achievement recognized by the foremost nations of the world. If that eventuality is desirable then the aid and assistance of men like Mr. Lamont is to be justified. But Father Aesop tells us of the experiment of the man who warmed the serpent in his bosom.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

IT'S ONE REASON FOR EXISTENCE.

Protesting against the propensity of some churches and some clergymen to mix in politics and try to dictate elections and legislation, Dr. Hugh Jack insisted in Northminster Presbyterian church, Sunday evening, that the "true mission of the church is spiritual" and that its "business is to save souls."

It certainly is true that unless it is the business of a church to "save souls" the institution has no excuse whatever for existing. That is the purpose for which the Christian church was born and its clergymen are ordained. An order to disseminate the gospel of salvation is the only commission under which it operates. And if the church lives up to its business of saving souls, it will not need to bother about politics, because politics will take care of itself. An enlightened public conscience born of the spiritual labors of the church will be sufficient heaven to produce healthy mundane conditions.

The church—or the clergyman—that commences to mix in politics at once confesses a lack of faith in the potency of the marching orders and failure in their application. Devotion to the "Great Commission" leaves no time nor energy to use professionally in other directions.—Detroit Free Press.

Biliousness Not a Disease.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

"Biliousness" is an expression used to describe a condition in which there is a headache and a feeling of dizziness. The victim has a greenish discoloration of the skin and complains of vague and discomforting pains. He is spoken of as "bilious looking."

The word "bilious" is not applied to a disease but merely to the symptoms of a disordered disorder. As commonly used it refers to a disturbance of the liver, and is associated with something wrong with the formation of bile.

Whenever there is any disturbance in the processes involved in the secretion of bile, certain disorders are sure to follow. There may be digestive disorders without any disturbance in the quantity or quality of the bile. For this reason, the word bilious is improperly used in many instances.

Digestion is influenced by many things. Primarily, the process of digestion depends largely on the condition of the stomach. It is affected by the state of the intestine, liver or pancreas, or even by the health of the mouth. From all these sources come certain juices which act in a definite manner upon the food we eat.

For example, when we chew food, saliva is secreted and added to it. The saliva has a certain action upon the food in the mouth and prepares it for digestion in the stomach.

If the food is not properly prepared before it reaches the stomach, there is interference with gastric digestion. As a result of such interference, an excess of acids may pour into the stomach. These acids irritate the membrane lining of that organ and may cause the discomfort often referred to as biliousness.

Another result of this irritation is to disturb the normal circulation of the stomach. This disturbance sends reflexes to the side of the liver and pancreas and produces distressing symptoms. The stomach is not able to do its work properly, and food leaves it in the form of a mass of half-digested and possibly fermented material. Then it can not be properly handled by and absorbed in the intestine.

The thing that causes the most trouble is a lack of alkaline juices. These are necessary to neutralize the normal acid content of the stomach and to overcome the action of the additional acids of which I have spoken.

With decreased alkaline juices, there are likely to be headache and dizziness in the stomach. Occasionally there may be a marked pain in the region of the stomach. A bad taste in the mouth is not unusual. There may be fever, but this is rare. The skin may have a yellowish appearance.

The general discomfort may be due to an absorption of poisons liberated by the incomplete digestion of food. This is one explanation for the severe headaches found in this condition. After vomiting, great relief is obtained because the stomach rids itself of undigested material.

Washing out the stomach gives great relief. The stomach is emptied by actually washing the stomach through a tube or by the administration of certain medicines.

Often the taking of a saline medicine will relieve an attack of biliousness, neutralizing any excess acids that may be present in the stomach.

The Indians' Sense of Humor.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH

A friend of mine wrote a book entitled, "Why We Laugh," and many have studied the philosophy of humor with a view to defining the [illegible] but after all that has been said and written the old rule of "de gustibus" seems to govern, and what seems funny to one may not be to another.

The Indian is constitutionally [illegible]. Many who lived with, or among, them for years, declared they never knew an Indian to laugh. Yet the Indian was not wholly without a sense of humor, as an incident told in the annals of the first white settlers in what is now Blendon township, Franklin county, shows.

When the Griswold [illegible] of that settlement started from their home in New [illegible] and, realizing that they would need a grindstone to sharpen their tools, placed a small unmounted stone on the bottom of the wagon bed, and soon after arriving at their western home mounted it on a treadle with a crank to operate it. It was noted that when the Indians first saw the operation of the stone, they laughed immoderately.

But the Indians soon learned the useful side of the new instrument and came to sharpen the few metallic tools they possessed. They came so often that the stone was finally taken from its mounting and hidden under the cabin floor. When the Indians came next to use it, they were given to understand that it was gone, but they evidently doubted this for they made menacing signs, and it was deemed best to produce the [illegible]

New York Day by Day.

New York, March 9—Nudity becomes a [illegible] to certain photographers wrestling with [illegible]pression woes. Such photography once [illegible] barn loft secrecy. Today one agency alone [illegible] more than 500 names boldly registered. [illegible] idea becomes a "meal ticket" for many [illegible] spurning this sort of thing.

In the Comstockian era girls were paid [illegible] $25 to $50 to visit studios and disrobe for [illegible]tographs. The prints are made up and [illegible] in lots of five and ten thousand to South [illegible]rican countries. Blondes a la natural sell [illegible] hot cakes in Cuba.

Sometimes different heads are placed [illegible] bodies and are labeled with grandiloq[illegible] names such as Carlotta Vere de Vere. An [illegible] tremendous market is developed among [illegible] called art magazines. On Broadway, after dark, they are sold [illegible]tively in the manner of the naughty French [illegible] postcards in Paris. Now and then the [illegible]nesses of professional posers are displayed [illegible] those pert shops, niched in the clumsy cubes [illegible] of Broadway, to make passers-by "lingerie [illegible] serious."

The Paris Kitchen Salon.

BY ALICE LANGELIER

Paris, March 9—I.N.S.—Paris, always considered the Paradise for women, has recently become the haven of housewives with the [illegible] ninth annual salon going on at the Grand [illegible] palais, attracting the heads of households from all over France.

Here, French housewives, far less familiar with the modern labor-saving devices so common in the United States, are examining, with much bewilderment, the compact kitchen ranges, electrically-heated baths, scientifically compressed furniture for small flats and remarkably white refrigeration cabinets.

Various and sundry machines brew delectable coffee and chocolate all day long, the samples of which are offered free to the visitors and there are dozens of little stands piled high with the choicest hams and sausages from the French provinces, sold by picturesque looking Frenchmen wearing their special costumes. Then, of course, there are the various vendors of the perfect potato parers and fancy vegetable-cutters, without which the housewives' salon could never be called a success.

* * *

French women are spending less and less time in their kitchens and more at the steering-wheel, according to recent figures showing that the number of them granted driving licenses during the past year was more than 50,000. Since 1929, the figure has increased about 5,000 every twelve months.

Thus, French women evidently have established their claim to equality with men at the wheel. Naturally, there is no reason why they should not, for any French woman can be [illegible] as clever with her car as with her casserole.

* * *

One big effect of the economic depression in France is the ending of the servant shortage which has been steadily on the increase ever since the war ended and the women went into other lines of work. Even toward the end of last year a good general servant in Paris was almost worth her weight in gold. Before the war her wages with board and lodging, which meant a tiny garret-room with no comforts whatsoever, were about three dollars a month.

This sum was increased to twenty or twenty-five dollars during the past few years as better lodgings went with it. Many housewives were obliged to seek their domestic help in foreign countries, such as Poland, Italy and Switzerland.

The tide has turned and more than 3,000 domestic workers are now looking for jobs in the Seine department alone.

* * *

Strenuous efforts are being made to save the French chanson from oblivion and French singers from the miseries of unemployment, thus helping Paris to retain her title of the "City of Song."

More than 1,000 singers in the capital are out of work and just as many in the provinces. At the same time, the "internationalized music" associated with talking films is sweeping everything before it. It is feared that the songster's art may soon be forgotten.

CITY WEIGHS SOOT AND SEEKS REMEDY

Pittsburgh Installs Device To Aid in Purifying Air.

By International News Service

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — The air you breathe is being measured in an effort to learn how much ozone (with smoke) residents inhale.

The instrument, officially called a capnometer, has been set up on the city-county building roof, the weighing and measuring three thousand feet above. A powerful light has been placed on the roof of a railroad car.

The rays of the light are focused through the capnometer. As the sunlight and dust-laden air pass through the light rays its strength is recorded on the ground by means of two photo cells.

Besides the instrument it is hoped to determine the exact cause of smoke here and speed the day when nuisance may be abated. How successful has been the system to date plans are being made for establishment of a smoke-sampling station at the equipment of various sections of the city may be determined.

12 STUDENTS TO GET FREE VACATION TRIP

Marion Merchants, Erie Railroad and The Star Sponsor Travel Contest.

Trip Starts June 17

The contest winners in company with men and women chaperons furnished by the Erie railroad, the James Boring Travel bureau which planned the entire trip, and The Star, will leave Marion Friday, June 17 on a special Pullman car attached to an eastbound passenger train. This train will be met at New York City by a bus assigned to the contest winners during their stay in New York. A dinner followed by an elaborate program has been arranged for their first night in New York.

During the first day in that city, the pupils will see the upper and lower sections of the city, starting at the Battery, covering the Wall street district and eventually reaching into the Fifth avenue and uptown sections.

Luncheon will be served on one of the largest ocean liners at dock in the New York harbor. After luncheon, the visitors will be given an opportunity to inspect the entire boat.

A special theater party at Roxy's, the largest theater in the world, has been planned for the second night. The following day will be spent in New York museums including the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the largest in the country, where luncheon will be served. The aquarium, the Museum of Natural History and the Bronx zoo are on the list of places to be visited scheduled for the two days' visits.

The third day in New York City will be spent in an all-day boat ride. The party will leave at the Battery for a trip up the Hudson, showing the New York skyline from various positions on the river and passing the Palisades. The boat will dock at Yonkers to the East river down which the party will return passing the tenement district, under the Brooklyn bridge through busy New York harbor and past the Statue of Liberty and Ellis Island to the pier.

That night the party will return to the pullman and leave for Washington again to be met by a special bus for a day of sightseeing in the capital. The trip will include a visit to the points of greatest interest including the Smithsonian institute and the Congressional library. During the day, the party will motor to Mt. Vernon where W. Eugene's home is located, Alexandria, Va. birthplace, and Arlington cemetery. On return to Washington, the party will board its pullman for New York to make direct connections for Marion immediately.

Planned in Advance

This extensive trip has been made possible only by careful planning and the use of special equipment. All meals and lodging places will be ordered ahead of time at first class hotels and restaurants. There is no cost whatever to the pupils.

The railroad has consented to permit as many teachers and parents to accompany children as can be accommodated on the pullman car and the busses. These persons will pay about one half the regular cost of such a trip.

Boxes will be placed in each of the Marion stores cooperating in the contest to receive the coupons given with each $1 purchase. The coupons will be counted and the standings of the students will be determined each Monday. The standings will be announced each Wednesday in The Star.

To acquaint residents of Marion and surrounding counties with the details of the contest, The Star will distribute 6,500 extra copies of each of eight special editions during the 10 weeks of the contest.

Today's issue is the first of these special editions. Subsequent editions will be distributed on Wednesdays.

The cost of the contest will be borne proportionately by the merchants, the Erie railroad and The Star. The travel contest as sponsored here is an original idea, and probably will be copied in various other cities along the Erie line in following years if popularly received here.

NEW HOPE VOICED IN KIDNAPING HUNT

State Police Head Says "Progress" Made in Lindbergh Case.

the hundreds of correspondents at Hopewell and Trenton that an announcement of great importance might be expected soon from the home of Mrs. Dwight Morrow, mother of Mrs. Lindbergh, at Englewood, N. J. The report sent Newsmen to Englewood on the double quick.

All was quiet there, save for the murmur of conversation among the chattering-teeth reporters themselves. The house was dark. A policeman told the pressmen they were on a wild-goose chase.

"There'll be no news until 10 o'clock this morning," he said, knowingly. "Then you may get a surprise." A heavy police guard is to be placed around all streets leading to the Morrow home at that hour. Something you'll want to know may happen then."

He walked on into the darkness swinging his club.

The Trenton and Hopewell sectors were without outward developments. In the face of whisperings that something of great moment might take place during the night, the Lindbergh household retired shortly after midnight. No lights showed in the house on the hill the rest of the night.

There were some indications that Governor Moore was putting into effect his suggestion that the way for the return of the baby be made easy. The force of troopers stationed at the Lindbergh estate was cut from 25 to 10. Arrangements were made by which at a moment's notice the remaining troopers can be sent away.

20 FEARED DEAD IN NEW JERSEY BLAST

Gas Tank Explodes in Camden, Trapping Victims in Interior.

The interior of the tank was strengthened by heavy girders.

Rudolph Walker, 40, Negro, said he saw a slight flame at the bottom of the tank after he had been working there 20 minutes, indicating the sawdust and sulphuric acid lining had caught fire.

"I shouted to the other men 'this looks bad'," said Walker. "Then I ran to get a fire engine. I was near the top of the tank and I climbed out and was running to the corner to sound an alarm when I heard a big explosion. It made an awful noise.

"As I turned around I saw flames shooting from above the top of the tank.

"When I sounded alarm I ran back to the tank and helped to get some of the other fellows out."

Walker joined the firemen in removing the dying and dead.

"I wasn't able to help much," said Walker later, "because it was so hot and the flames were so big. The first thing the firemen had to do was to put out the fire before they could reach the men who were in the bottom of the tank."

Benjamin Plevinski, a grocer whose store and home is opposite the tank, told of hearing a "terrible roar" as the tank blew up.

"My whole house shook," he said, "and I didn't know what had happened. I looked out of the window. The flames were shooting out of the top of the tank."

CHILD LEAGUE MEETS HERE

Benefits from State Charter and Magazine Topics of District Session.

Benefits to be derived from the state charter and the publication and merits of the Child Conservation League Messenger, the state organ, were discussed in the morning's session of the one-day Central District conference of the State Child Conservation league at Hotel Harding.

About 30 representatives of the Columbus, Galion, Findlay, Lima and Marion circles attended the session. A number of others are expected to join the group this afternoon.

Devotionals were conducted by Mrs. L. Monter of Columbus as the visitors were welcomed by Mrs. Frank Annon, president of the Marion circle. Mrs. Catherine Dennig Smith of this city, district president, presided. Greetings also were received from the state president, Mrs. A. E. Thurston of Astabula, who was unable to attend.

The privilege of securing speakers from any state school and also of forming any parental study group throughout the state were cited by Mrs. [illegible] of Columbus in her talk on "What Benefit Does the Local Circle Derive from the State Charter?" She also stated that the charter would entitle the circles to received financial aid from an organization like the Community fund to carry on welfare work as a unit.

Van Fossen president of the Columbus Child Conservation league, Mrs. R. D. Stockdale, state secretary, and Mrs. F. Tracy also of Columbus. Fourteen Years' Suffering Ended by ZO-RO-LO"

Mrs. D. M. Breen, 267 North State St., Marion, Ohio, writes: "For a period of fourteen years I have been greatly troubled with varicose veins, Neuritis, and Sinus Trouble. My suffering was of a severe description. Today my health is restored to its normal condition, and the Sinus Trouble and Neuritis have ceased. I owe these almost unbelievable benefits to this remarkable medicine, Zo-Ro-Lo. This remedy has given me more real results than I ever hoped to receive."

"Had No Hope of Recovery; Now Able to Work"

Mr. John A. Cook, 443 East Farming, Marion, Ohio, says, "I have been afflicted with Rheumatism practically all my life and five months ago I was taken ill with gall stones and kidney stones, so that I was forced to give up my job and was bed-ridden. I was in such a critical condition that there was little hope for my recovery. My doctor advised me to take Zo-Ro-Lo and my improvement has been rapid beyond our wildest hopes. I am now able to work and am looking for employment."

"Was Given Up to Die—Now Entirely Well"

Mrs. Pearl McGinnis, 384 Le Sure, Marion, Ohio, writes: "I have been in a very serious condition for the past three years, with Acidosis, Bloating Liver Trouble, Constipation, Nervousness, and High Blood Pressure. The pressure was so extreme that I would fall many times which made it impossible for me to attend church. I was nearly in despair and was given up to die. Then I heard of ZO-RO-LO. I am now on my second bottle and can say that I am entirely relieved."

The hundreds of Marion users of ZO-RO-LO, the famous medicine that is bringing health and happiness to thousands, will please note that this great remedy is no longer on sale at the former North Main street office but can be purchased ONLY through W. G. Windhurst at the Waldorf Pharmacy, 130 South Main St.

Remember, too, that there is only one GENUINE ZO-RO-LO. Imitations may be offered to you, but in this important a thing as YOUR HEALTH it is certainly unwise to accept substitutes of known merit.

All Marion knows what ZO-RO-LO is and what benefits it has given. Phone 2705 if you wish ZO-RO-LO delivered.

VALUABLE TRAINING IN THIS SCHOOL

New Course Instructs Girls in Care of Infants

By International News Service

NEW YORK — The recent opening of the first school of motherhood for high school girls in New York proves that at last educational authorities have awakened to the fact that all these years the most important item of a girl's education was not included in the curriculum.

Heretofore the young women graduated from our high schools and colleges have been sent into the world equipped for a career in the arts, business or science. Most of our girls who ran the whole gamut of the educational system, from kindergarten until they tagged a couple of letters after their names on acquiring university degrees, can give a good account of themselves in discussions about Mr. Einstein's relativity theories, on the trend of modern art or on Freud's application of psychology to business.

Where Knowledge Is Lacking

But ask them the simplest question on a baby's diet, bath or mothering the teething session, and they are immediately immersed in a fog of ignorance. Thus the knowledge most vital to womanhood, the equipment for the successful carrying out of her primary mission on earth, is the thing of which she knows least.

The new school is going to change all that. No more will the young mother bite her lip in despair and vexation when she finds that a degree in physics and being intimate terms with Freud's intricacies of the mind doesn't help a bit in stopping the baby from crying. No more will the young husband, who must be on his way to the office at 7 in the morning, reproach the wife in scathing terms for her ignorance, as he perambulates the bedroom with the squalling first born, far, far into the night hours.

Real Babies Used as Models

The Dalton School of Motherhood, which opened on Jan. 1, is teaching not only the theory of scientific care of babies but is giving its pupils valuable practical experience with real babies as models.

Four healthy infants of good social background whose mothers are forced to work for a living, are chosen by the school authorities to be used as subjects in the lectures and demonstrations that comprise the course. These babies will be reared at the school and made as perfect babies as scientific development can make of them. Of course, the are returned to their parents every night.

The faculty of the school is composed of specialists in infant care, as is Nurse Mary McMahon, the supervisor, who being a woman, doubtless knows a few things of which even the celebrated doctors of the institution are in ignorance.

Training Is Thorough

The course teaches care of the baby from A to Z. First, naturally, the pupils are instructed in the correct manner of holding an infant—there's quite a knack to it, in case you've never tried. Then, in a course all by itself, is a list of stringent rules regarding proper dieting. The scientific modus operandi of feeding the child is another phase that receives special attention —though it looks simple enough.

You may not think that there's much to giving a baby a bath, but you're wrong. There's more to it than there is to flying an airplane. Clothing the new citizen is another mystery that is made clear in the course. Even the manner in which the baby sleeps and should sleep has a bearing on its temper and conduct, and all those mysteries are elucidated to the potential mothers as part of the school curriculum.

The students seem to enjoy the course in mothering—after all it is a change from the dull grind of mathematics and kindred headaches. It will prove a boon to them in the future—but what a greater boon to the man they marry! And a still greater one to the little stranger who later will make a trio out of the twosome.

All a Mistake.

TUPELO, Miss.—Gold prospectors filed claims at the city hall here to obtain mining right from the owner of a down-town barber shop. They then launched their mining venture right in town, digging up a buried stump on the sidewalk, but found no gold. Fortune tellers had assured the men an eccentric Chinaman had left buried treasure there.

The Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process transforms the cotton cords into a strong, tough, sinewy unit. Liquid rubber penetrates every cord and coats every fiber, guarding against internal friction and heat, greatly increasing the strength of the cord body, and giving longer tire life.

TWO EXTRA CORD PLIES UNDER THE TREAD
This is a patented construction, and the two extra cord plies are so placed that you get 56% stronger bond between tread and cord body, and 26% greater protection against punctures and blowouts. It sets a new standard for tire performance on high speed cars.

Quiet, Safe, Long-Wearing Non-Skid Tread
Tough, thick rubber specially compounded for long, slow wear. Effective non-skid gives greater traction and safe, quiet performance.

University Expert Finds Brain Defects Due To Birth Injuries

BY LEIGH MATTESON
International News Service
Science Writer.

NEW YORK—More truth than poetry has been found by physicians to exist in that jocose description—"He (or she) must have been dropped on his (or her) head when a baby."

This term, usually applied by the annoyed to that sad array of children or adults who are mentally deficient or abnormal, has a kernel of truth in it, according to Dr. Leon Stuart Gordon, of George Washington University School of Medicine.

From recent investigations he has come to believe that the majority of stuttering and lisping children, epileptics, imbeciles, idiots and even neurotic adults are victims of injuries of the brain received during birth.

Evidence Found

In a series of postmortem examinations of 120 babies who died at or soon after birth, Dr. Gordon found that 83 per cent had suffered brain injuries.

Spinal fluid examinations of 1000 babies who lived after birth revealed that 10 per cent, one in ten, also had suffered brain hemorrhages. This was revealed by blood in the spinal fluid.

Most of these living babies make uneventful recoveries from the injuries. But a fraction almost large enough to account for all the imbeciles, idiots, probably do not recover from more serious brain damage received at birth.

In this latter class the majority are overweight or underweight babies. The larger babies receive direct brain injuries either in natural or artificially aided delivery. The smaller babies, those weighing five and a half pounds or less at birth, were found to have underdeveloped arteries in the brain, which ruptured and damaged brain tissues without the necessity of damage by force.

Dr. Gordon describes the three groups of brain injury babies as follows:

"Infants born dead or dying in a few days after birth from intracranial injuries incompatible with life.

"The group in which subnormality or neuropathology is manifest sufficient to create candidates for homes for imbeciles and idiots, the epileptic colony, or the neurological institutions as the probable result of birth injuries upon the central nervous system.

"The group of infants whose injuries to their heads is slight and who recover and attain the normal state."

"CHIC" SALE COMING TO OHIO THEATER IN EDNA FERBER STORY

"Chic" Sale

"Old Man Minick," one of Edna Ferber's best stories, has been brought to the screen as "The Expert," with "Chic" Sale in the name role and with Dickie Moore playing an important part. The picture will show at the Ohio Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

"Old Man Minick" is a delightful story of a meddlesome old man with a fondness for a little ragamuffin' boy. Lois Wilson and Earl Foxe are cast as his daughter-in-law and son. Ralf Harolde, Adrienne Dore and Walter Catlett and 33 veterans of stage and screen appear in the roles of "Minick's" cronies.

Dickie Moore will be the youngest star in Hollywood when his next picture, "Rags to Riches" is released. "Chic" also has a starring picture coming out soon, "Competition." "Old Man Minick" is Edna Ferber's fourth story to be screened. The others were "Show Boat," "So Big" and "Cimarron."

"BROKEN LULLABY" AT PALACE THEATER

"Broken Lullaby," which will close Thursday at the Palace, is a strongly moving drama of post-war life. The cast, with the exception of Nancy Carroll, is splendid. Phillips Holmes and Lionel Barrymore create magnificent roles as the French boy and the German father and Louise Carter is touching as the little German mother. Holmes, a sensitive French boy, has killed a German boy in the war. The memory of the dying boy haunts him and he is tormented with the belief that he murdered him. He goes to the boy's home in Germany to beg the parents' forgiveness. The family is bitter against the French, and when Holmes has stayed a few days, he dreads more and more telling them of his deed. They accept him as a friend of their son. He falls in love with Nancy Carroll, the dead boy's sweetheart, tells her of his deed and swears he must tell the parents. She interferes and tells them instead that he had started to tell them of his decision to make his home with them. They are overjoyed and in the love of her and the parents, he finds that he must forget forever his secret, and with them to help him, he can live in peace and happiness in the family of the man he killed. One extremely touching scene takes place between Miss Carter and Emma Dunn, in the cemetery. [illegible] has directed the picture [illegible] sense of the dramatic [illegible] play. POLICE ROUTED BY 3,000 UNEMPLOYED MARCHERS

—Associated Press Photo

Four men were killed and about 30 wounded when some 3,000 unemployed marchers overpowered police at the city limits of Dearborn, Mich., and forced their way to the gates of the Ford Motor company's River Rouge plant. Police are shown here in retreat. They returned with reserves and finally dispersed the mob.

WOMEN HAVE NEW VIEWS ABOUT CARS

More Particular About How Autos Run Than About Looks.

By United Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Women have changed their ideas on automobiles since they learned to drive, and beauty is no longer the first essential for a car, if the automobile men at the motor show here size up women drivers right.

Women drivers still want good-looking cars, and they are somewhat particular about the gadget but the dealers and salesmen are practically unanimous in saying that "miles per gallon," ease of operation and brakes are the first things a prospective women customer inquires about.

The innocent girl, who looks at the brakes and asks, "What's that?" and the wife, who won't have a car of a certain color because it doesn't match the hose, were almost totally missing this year.

The looks of the automobile are still among the first requirements to women of wealth, who don't drive their own cars, but since practically all women like to drive occasionally, even the wealthy ones want cars that they, as well as their chauffeurs, can handle.

Good brakes are generally the first thing a woman asks about, according to many automobile men. Most women, when they get in a tight place, want to stop quickly.

And before the car finally is bought, the question of economical operation is almost sure to be brought up. Miles per gallon is a highly important item.

Keep Mouth Looking Young Practicing Daily Exercise

BY JOSEPHINE HUDDLESTON

The mouth is one of the first features to show marks of age, giving a definite tendency to droop at the corners as one grows older. The lips are inclined to become thinner, too as the first flush of youth passes, so that the constant effort of holding up the arch of the lips how is prevent if Time is to be prevented from leaving his effects upon the mouth

The arch of the cupids bow can be held out with lip rouge and, unless the lips have become too thin, this plans works most effectively There is another method, however, for keeping the mouth soft, full and looking beyond its years—a method which will prevent sagging at the corners too and prove helpful in preventing the appearance of small wrinkles around the mouth

The method is a simple exercise which should be indulged at least twice each day, especially if sagging, thinness and lines have already made their appearance. If you still are free from these beauty destroying marks of age do the exercise only once each day That will suffice to keep your mouth young

A Daily Routine

Practice in front of a mirror for the first few times so that you can see, as well as feel the action around the mouth when taking the exercise

Holding the mirror so that you see your facial expression, push the lips out into a full round O Hold this position for a second then tighten up the O by pushing the lips out as far as you can and pressing them together as tightly as you can

The first action, the loose oval—pushes the lips out but keeps them in an oval shape The second action, the tight O could push the lips still farther out but should draw the corners of the mouth in toward the center so that a tight, round form of the lips is achieved Hold this position while mentally counting to ten Then keeping the upper and lower lips pressed together, draw the corners of the mouth slowly back first to their normal position, then, still keeping them tightly together, draw them of the mouth still farther ward the ears—as far as Now hold this position while ing slowly to ten, then mouth completely, letting fall into a soft but natural Can't you feel the the mouth tingling? Does feel as though they were into the faintest suggestion pout? A glance into the however, reveals only a soft, rounded contour mouth, no actual lines of being present.

Repeat this exercise ten

CHAPTER SEVEN

A Mysterious Stranger

"WOULDN'T we be happier if you began to work and we started a little home?" Kitty asked.

"Oh, that's what's been souring you!" He pushed her away, a little roughly. "I don't see why you should complain—you haven't a thing to do except twirl your thumbs, and that ought to seem darn soft to you after the way you've worked."

"Gar! Gar!"

He paid no heed to her protest. He got up, upsetting his undrunk coffee. He threw off his dressing gown and began to put on a collar and tie, scowling as he adjusted his tie.

"Trouble with you, Kit, is that you've counted pennies so long that you think it's all there is to living. Well, there's a lot more. I'll start working all right when I get ready, but I'm not ready yet. The mother's satisfied, so I'm satisfied too. And that's that." He thrust his arms savagely into his coat sleeves. "I suppose you think it's a crime to play golf, I take it you don't care to go out with me." And with that he flung himself out of the room.

Kitty stood quite still, stunned, unbelieving. When she heard the sound of Gar's car in the driveway under the window she said aloud "He's gone. He's really gone."

Pound came in and went away with the tray. She moved mechanically about the room putting it to rights. Now and then she went to the window and stared, unseeing, out across the house-tops.

They had quarreled — or no, it hadn't been a quarrel. She had said nothing, just her "Gar! Gar!" out of her horror at his anger. What had put him in that mood? She remembered his annoyance because he had not risen in time to see his mother before she went out. Money—. He was broke, he had borrowed from Red the night before. Of course he'd hate to borrow from Marge.

Time and again Kitty had wished for an afternoon which she might devote to putting her clothes in order, reading, writing letters, but Gar had not let her have one. Now she had it on her hands and was too distraught to use it. She was lonely too; Gar's room gave her no sense of security now.

She had an overwhelming longing to talk to some one, some one who would understand, who might help her—maybe laugh away her horror. Gar's mother — if she could talk to her. But on the very breath of that desire Kitty sighed. Gar's mother would listen to no criticism of Gar; Gar had said she was satisfied. Kitty thought of how often Gar was closeted with his mother in her office, her sanctum to which no one ever went uninvited. Kitty had not been in it. Often, passing its shut door, she had felt a little wistful. Oh, no—she could not talk to Gar's mother now. Or to Carol—Carol who treated her civilly enough, but always with a studied indifference that had made Gar laugh. "That's Carol—don't mind her."

Gar's father was as unapproachable as though he did not belong to this family. Whenever he met Kitty he had repeated: "I hope you're happy here, my dear." But his manner of saying it showed that he took it for granted that she was happy.

Pound of them all Pound was the only one who was really friendly. Pound, the old servant. She missed her mother and her father—she missed Phil Corey and Sally, everything, everything that had been so jolly and so real, so simple. And missing it, she felt more lonely. She threw herself on the bed. She could cry now and not dispel her tears.

At 5 o'clock she bathed and dressed, prolonging the process. Gar must surely come back for her before dinner. But 6 o'clock came, half-past 6 and brought no Gar. Seven o'clock—if any of the family were at home for dinner they would eat at 7 o'clock. Kitty shrank facing them without Gar, and yet to stay alone in this room any longer was intolerable.

She'd tell them that Gar was detained by his golf match. Perhaps they had been delayed in starting off. Foursomes took a long time over 18 holes. She had learned that much of golf, learned it by patient waiting. Or a new fear gripped her; Gar might have had an accident, driving home too fast to get her. Of course he'd drive fast—

She ran down the stairs, thinking of that, frightened. Below she found only Pound.

"Has Mr. Gar telephoned, Pound? I'm waiting—he's been playing golf—"

Gar had not telephoned. She'd best eat dinner here and not wait, Pound advised. In a few minutes he would serve dinner. The family was out—

"Pound, you don't think he's had an accident?"

Pound patted her arm. "Now don't worry, Mrs. Gar. That boy's just forgotten the time, playing his game. Don't you worry." Pound called her "Mrs. Gar" when there was no one in hearing.

Kitty wandered irresolutely into the drawing-room. But she did not sit down; she stood in the center of the room, tense, listening. Pound had not reassured her; nothing could until Gar appeared. Perhaps he'd never come; right at this very minute he might be lying somewhere, mangled, unconscious. And she had let him go away in anger.

When she heard the outer door open she gave a sharp cry of relief. It must be Gar! She ran out into the hall. But there she faced a stranger, standing a little uncertainly just within the door.

With lightning swiftness Kitty took in his appearance, his slightly shabby clothes, his attitude of uncertainty. He was no guest; the family were dining out. He had come to tell her— Fear squeezed the blood from her heart. She swayed a little where she stood.

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Lee Chow Gives Warning That No Other Must Open the Strong Box.

DICKY lost no time in ushering Lillian and me back into the little study off the library, where we had left Lee Chow. The high-born Chinese was no longer lying upon the army cot, upon which he had collapsed after his hand had been jabbed with the venom-tipped needle concealed in one of the envelopes hidden in the secret compartment of Marion's strongbox. A big arm-chair had been drawn close to the table and Lee Chow, seated in it, was looking down intently upon the three sealed envelopes which he had taken from the box.

He looked up as we entered and started to rise, but Hugh Grantland, standing behind him peremptorily put him back into his chair.

"You must not exert yourself, my friend," he said.

"These wives of ours are sensible females, eh, Dicky?" Harry Underwood interpolated. "They don't expect a man just back from the jaws of death to sling the Chesterfieldian line."

"Thank you," Lee Chow returned with grave courtesy, and I surmised that the jaws of death had indeed too nearly closed for him to be able to look back upon the experience with a smile.

Lee Chow's Caution

"Will you all please be seated?" he said, and suddenly something indefinable, intangible, in his voice and manner made me feel as if I were a school girl listening to the expounding of a difficult subject.

It was not difficult to believe, in this moment, that Lee Chow possessed the ancient lineage and traditions of power with which Hugh had credited him so persistently.

Unobtrusively, Dicky and Harry ranged chairs for us all around the table. Lee Chow was so quiet that he scarcely seemed to breathe. Only the finger-tips of his left hand, pressed tightly against the table top, upon which his bandaged right hand rested, gave any evidence that he was not inert and helpless.

He had closed his eyes when he had asked us to be seated, and I guessed that he was forcing himself to a desperate effort, far beyond his natural strength. So indomitable was the spirit of the man, so steeled his will, that even Hugh Grantland ventured no further questions as to his ability to go through with the task he had set himself.

When he opened his eyes at last he tapped the envelope from which still protruded the slender, gleaming dart that had sent its poison into his exploring fingers.

"I wish to impress upon you all," he began slowly, "that no one except myself must touch this envelope again. I have been to it that this needle point has been cleaned of venom, and it is innocuous as long as it stays outside the object in which its base is bedded. But a slight pressure, exerted at the right place, will send it back into its base again, where it will be recharged, and become again a potential source of death."

They Did Not Know

"And this is the 'fortune' that was left to my baby!" Lillian's voice was vibrant with anger. "Of course, her grandmother was senile when she turned over the box to Marion, and probably had forgotten what its contents were; but surely even Tom Morton could not have planned such a thing for me, figuring that I would open the box for Marion."

Her face was convulsed with the horror of the suspicion which had come to her. I saw her husband's hand go out and grip her shoulder, and saw the look of gratitude in the haunted eyes turned upon him.

Lee Chow was speaking again, as measuredly as ever, and I guessed that his strength was not sufficient to enable him to hurry his disclaimer of Lillian's theory, even for the purpose of easing her mind.

"The person who put these envelopes into this box," he said, "could not possibly have known of this venom-tipped needle concealed in one of these objects. The knowledge of this is possessed by only one living person myself although there are several people who know the value and the history of these things."

I wondered if the rest were feeling the same impatient curiosity that was consuming me at the suspension which he was patently using in regard to the contents of the box.

"Of course, you realize by this time," he went on, "that I cannot tell you now what the objects are that this envelope holds, although, as you may have guessed, I know every bit of their contour as perfectly as if they were bones of my body.

His Final Instruction

"But the wishes of ancestors are sacred, and the mother of this child's father said, as I understand, that the contents of these envelopes were not to be revealed until the young girl comes of age. Am I right?"

"Until she is eighteen, yes," Harry Underwood said quickly, relieving Lillian of the necessity of speech, which I guessed was beyond her.

"You told me this morning"—Lee Chow turned to Lillian—"that your daughter's eighteenth birthday would not be here for two months?"

Lillian nodded, and her husband again saved her the necessity of answering.

"That is correct," he said.

"Then we will wait until that time," Lee Chow said. And again I was struck by the authority in his manner. His behavior, I told myself was more like what one would expect from the owner of the box than from someone who was investigating it.

"And now," Lee Chow said, turning to Katherine, "will you please give me the cork to a bottle—any cork will do."

AIDS ASSIGNED FOR JOB DRIVE

Representatives of Groups Hear Plans Outlined by C. F. Brown.

A captain was assigned to each of the city's 42 precincts, general plans were discussed, and plans were made to complete the organization of more than 300 persons who next Tuesday will begin a city-wide drive in search of jobs for the unemployed when representatives of several organizations interested in the drive met at the Legion dugout on south High street last night.

Twelve Legionnaires were made members of an emergency squad to act as substitute captains

C. F. Bronson, chairman of the organization's committee of the Marion "At Work" Civic committee sponsoring the drive, gave a general outline of the drive. Bulletins listing work suggestions will be distributed Saturday. Precinct captains and their workers from the Central Labor Union, the Parent-Teacher council, Federated Women's clubs, the Legion and the Legion auxiliary will begin work Tuesday morning in an effort to "sell" the idea of furnishing work for the jobless. This intensive drive will last 10 days

Statistical information concerning the employment situation here will be obtained by the workers

Precinct captains will meet Friday night to complete the personnel of their teams. Captains and workers will meet next Monday night in The Star auditorium for final instructions and supplies.

BOARD'S ATTORNEYS WILL NOT GET FEES

Carey Public Affairs Group Failed To Consult Village Council.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 9- Attorneys who defended the action of the board of public affairs of the village of Carey in fixing a water and electric rate which later was reduced 15 per cent by the common pleas court, were left holding the bag to the tune of $1,433 for their services, according to a report filed with the state bureau of accounting today by Examiner Elmer A Zack

The board of public affairs had employed the attorneys without consulting the village council and the attorney general held the employment was illegal and therefore the village is not obligated to pay for their services

The examiner made findings for recovery totaling $444 against numerous individuals, mostly as a result of errors in light and water bills. He also reported an illegal payment of $1 121 to the Ohio Power Co for repairs, because the contract had not been awarded through competitive bidding

THREE FIRE CALLS REPORTED; LOSS LOW

Sparks on a shingle roof were blamed for a $5 fire at the home of Charles Armbruster at 376 Quarry street yesterday afternoon The blaze was put out by firemen from the No 3 station.

At 7 10 last night firemen from the central station were called to the home of John Alex at 273 south High street where a flue leading from a furnace had become overheated. No damage resulted

Sparks on a shingle roof were responsible for another fire call at 6 30 a. m. today when a passerby discovered fire on the roof at the home of J. L. Kirby at 372 Silver street Firemen from the No 2 and 3 stations answered the call and the blaze was confined to a few shingles.

"YELLOW DOG" CONTRACT HIT

Organized Labor Scores Victory in House Vote on Legislation.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 9 The house passed the Norris-La Guardia anti-injunction bill with but 13 dissenting votes

It was a mighty victory for organized labor. Coupled with the 75 to 5 approval given the measure earlier in the senate, it represented a sweeping triumph over the forces which for years beat back this legislation.

When it becomes law the "yellow dog" contract which binds workers not to organize will no longer be recognized, and federal judges will be limited stringently in their powers to quiet labor disputes by injunction.

The house vote came at the close of yesterday's session In seven hours of debate but two men spoke against the legislation, and the roll call showed 363 representatives favoring it Minor differences will require a conference with the senate before the measure can go to the White House There has been no indication of the President's attitude toward the measure

Injunctions against labor in dispute with its employes will not be permitted under the act without a hearing and finding of fact by the court, unless and until unlawful acts are committed, there is no adequate remedy at law; public officers are unable or unwilling to furnish protection, and reasonable efforts have been made to settle the dispute.

SCOUTS VISIT PATTERN SHOP

Invitations for parents and friends to attend the Boy Scout roundup Thursday night, were distributed to the members of Troop 1 at a meeting last night at the Y M. C. A

Chester Berry, scoutmaster, surprised the boys with a trip to his pattern shop on Davids street He presented the boys with nickel chief slides made on one of the lathes. A lunch was served

New members of the troop were presented with part of their equipment Games were played The scout benediction and taps closed the meeting. Guests were troop committeemen Earl N. Hale and Edwin Probst.

Holmes Speaks "Farewell to Life" on Anniversary

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 9--Oliver Wendell Holmes on his ninety-first birthday spoke a farewell to life

To a distinguished company gathered to honor the great jurist at dinner last night he sent formal regrets that he could not attend. But he supplemented these in a separate message.

"Your kind invitation for March 8 has been answered, I believe, in due form. But I can not say farewell to life and you in formal words.

"Life seems to me just like a Japanese picture which our imagination does not allow to end with the margin We aim at the infinite and when our arrow falls to earth it is in flames

"At times the ambitious ends of life have made it seem to me lonely, but it has not been You have given me the companionship of dear friends who have helped to keep alive the fire in my heart. If I could think that I had sent a spark to those who come after I will be ready to say goodbye"

But the venerable writer of courteous opinions which have lent brilliance to the supreme bench he occupied for almost 30 years, however may believe his moral and crowded vigor of mind to the few friends who visited him on the anniversary. Cheerfully, he has expected that the end would steal upon him for some time He had hoped it would find him still at work, but this could not be. He spoke of death a year ago when on his birthday he made his first and only radio talk And he has whimsically called himself a "ghost" repeatedly.

Ruth Hanna McCormick Becomes Bride of Banker.

By The Associated Press

COLORADO SPRINGS, Col., March 9—Romance growing out of the association of two former members of congress in Washington climaxes in their marriage here today.

Mrs. McCormick former representative from Illinois and Mr. Simms, former representative from New Mexico, occupied adjoining seats in the house Both are Republicans.

For nearly a year both denied they were engaged Last March 27, her fifty-first birthday anniversary, Mrs. McCormick asserted a report they were to marry was "screamingly funny"

She announced their plans last night, however.

Modern Notables Are Not All Recognized by College Students

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, O., March 9—College students aren't close followers of current events, an examination given at Ohio Wesleyan university here reveals.

Students enrolling for a course on "Interpretation of Current Events" in the journalism department were given a preliminary examination by Prof. D. W. Miller to ascertain how much they read the daily news.

Half of them couldn't identify the vice president of the United States. Marc Connelly, author of "The Green Pastures," was mentioned as a baseball player. Tom Mooney, inmate of San Quentin prison, was listed as a Democratic leader and by another student as a radio announcer.

Senator Huey Long of Louisiana, whose name was presented the student as plain Huey Long, was classified by one as a leader of the Chinese forces. Francis Ouimet, amateur golfer, was credited with being an ambassador from France by one student, and by another as the French premier.

When it came to identification of actors and actresses, though, the class did well. It attained an accuracy of 79 per cent to this section of the quiz.

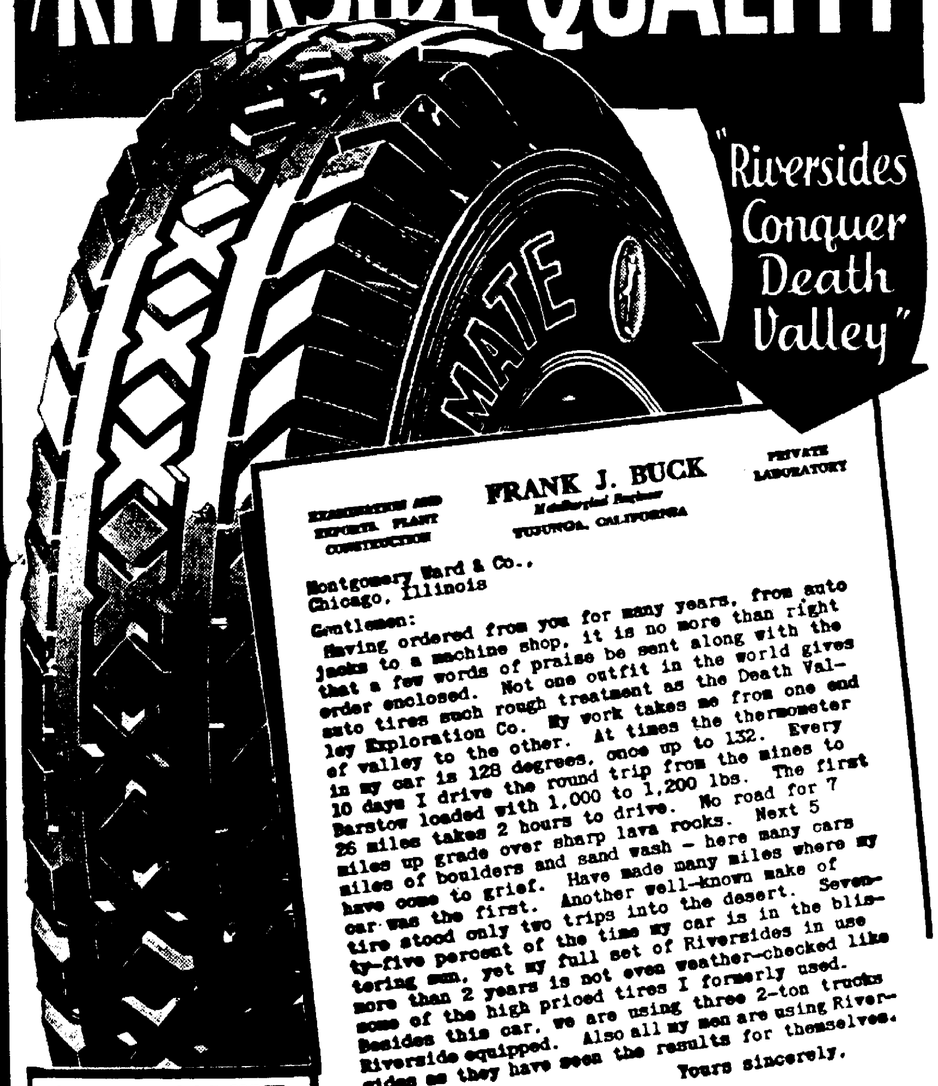
YOUNGEST GRANDMOTHER

By United Press

OROVILLE, Calif.—Mrs. Cleo Snyder, just 31, believes she is the nation's youngest grandmother. Donna Marie George, 9 months, the grandchild, was born May last. Her mother is Mrs. Vernon George, 17, Stockton. The greatgrandmother is Mrs. M. L. Watkins, 75, of this city.

Tests of the United States Bureau of Standards have demonstrated that the loss of power in automobile motors is directly proportional to the excess of moisture in the air.

PROOF of RIVERSIDE QUALITY



"Riversides Conquer Death Valley"

EXHIBITIONS AND EXPERT PLANT CONSTRUCTION — FRANK J. BUCK Mechanical Engineer TUJUNGA, CALIFORNIA — PRIVATE LABORATORY

Montgomery Ward & Co.,
Chicago, Illinois

Gentlemen:

Having ordered from you for many years, from auto jacks to a machine shop, it is no more than right that a few words of praise be sent along with the order enclosed. Not one outfit in the world gives auto tires such rough treatment as the Death Valley Exploration Co. My work takes me from one end of valley to the other. At times the thermometer in my car is 128 degrees, once up to 132. Every 10 days I drive the round trip from the mines to Barstow loaded with 1,000 to 1,200 lbs. The first 26 miles takes 2 hours to drive. No road for 7 miles up grade over sharp lava rocks. Next 5 miles of boulders and sand wash – here many cars have come to grief. Have made many miles where my car was the first. Another well-known make of tire stood only two trips into the desert. Seventy-five percent of the time my car is in the blistering sun, yet my full set of Riversides in use more than 2 years is not even weather-checked like some of the high priced tires I formerly used. Besides this car, we are using three 2-ton trucks Riverside equipped. Also all my men are using Riversides as they have seen the results for themselves.

Yours sincerely,

Frank J. Buck

False Clues Dangerous
Sugar and Foreign Labor
Mr. Sloan's Explanation
Useful, Excited Molecules

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

PARANOIACS and crooks should know that sending false clues and messages to the authorities is not safe. In Chicago two men have been sent to prison for 30 days for "spreading false reports." They telephoned Hopewell that they had found the lost baby in a Sheridan road rooming house.

Mr. Al Capone, "King of them all," expresses his high opinion of "Salvy" Spitale's ability to recover the Lindbergh child. Says he:

"If you want that baby back let me out of here and I'll try to find the kid." The name of Capone, at present in jail at Chicago, would certainly interest any professional kidnaper and worry him.

• • •

THROUGH THE WINDOW of the newspaper office in which this is written you could see a steamer of the Ward Lines yesterday, just below the old Brooklyn bridge, unloading 30,000 sacks—three million pounds—of refined sugar, brought from abroad.

This sugar is landed opposite to the American refineries of the Arbuckle, National and American sugar refining companies on the other side of the East river.

This means that American supplies were not bought, American labor was not hired, American machinery and capital were not used to refine that sugar, which Americans will eat.

• • •

THIS COUNTRY supplies the world's great market for raw sugar, and has been a refiner of sugar for 200 years.

Countries that produce raw sugar should be content to find here a market for their product, and not try to destroy the refining industry, one of the United States' great sugar products.

Lawmakers should see to it that nothing which pays over seven billion dollars for labor and has invested millions for machinery used in this country, is penalized against cheaper, pauper labor represented in sugar from foreign refineries.

• • •

ALFRED P. SLOAN JR., head of the big General Motors Corporation, tells Samuel Crowther that our economic difficulties are partly due to "failure of financial technique to keep pace with development of machine technique."

It is plain that engineering and scientific genius splendidly represented in Mr. Sloan's General Motors laboratories and engineering staff, has gone ahead of our financial power to think and foresee.

The dinosaur grew too big for its brain and died off. Even the dinosaur that developed a subsidiary brain half way down its spine, gave way to the small, carnivorous creature that gnawed its feet.

This nation seems to have outgrown its brains, and the carnivorous tribe of bootleggers, gangsters, short sellers of stocks and get-rich-quick schemes are active.

A RUSSIAN SCIENTIST, Dr. Frankel, developing a theory that other scientists take seriously, attributes light to "the excitation of molecules." The atoms get excited and light is produced, somewhat as, when a player excites the strings of a violin, sound is produced. Light is a phenomenon produced by excited molecules.

We should all be grateful for this molecular excitement. Without it we could not see each other, the sky, the Sistine chapel, the Taj Mahal, Pike's Peak or Dempsey and Tunney.

SOMEBODY seems to have money. Last night, when Florenz Ziegfeld's new show, bearing the deep and mystifying title, "Hot-Cha," opened, 16,000 people were not there that wanted to be there. They were unable to secure tickets in a theater "sold out." And the tickets for the first night cost $15 each, plus $1.50 tax, or $16.50 each. All prices will be normal after the first night.

BALLET FOR COAST

By International News Service

HOLLYWOOD—The film capital and California in general would have an exchange system for ballet dancers and principals under a scheme just being launched by the newly formed Pacific coast branch of the American Ballet Guild of New York. The branch expects to organize a school of ballet dancing and sponsor ballet performances all along the Pacific. It is proposed to build up ballets here to perform in support of noted New York artists, and in time to send principals from the west to dance in the east, supported by eastern choruses.

The United Kingdom leads the world in the use of motorcycles, having about 28 per cent. of the total, followed in order by Germany, France, the United States and Italy.

"OLD GRANITE" SOFTENS UP

Throwing off the cares of state and the worries attendant upon the presidential election, President Paul von Hindenberg, of Germany, is shown as he took a stroll in the Wilhelmstrasse at Berlin with three of his grandchildren. President von Hindenberg is still regarded as the most popular man in Germany and political observers predict that he will be reelected to the presidency with a bigger majority than ever before.

Britain's $250,000 Noise Bill Attacked by Science

By International News Service

LONDON—Doctors, nerve specialists, and engineers are uniting to reduce Britain's annual bill of $250,000 caused by sheer noise.

They mean to put a silencer on this noise terror that tears nerves to shreds, handicaps business, and makes life almost intolerable.

The National Physical Laboratory at Teddington has been working on the problem for the past two years. And now, the Industrial Health Research board, of which Sir David Munro is secretary, are preparing to put the results in operation.

Record City Noises

Complete records have been made by the National Physical Laboratory of all the noises that make up the din of the large city. Experts are engaged in assessing the effect of every type of noise from street cries to the clatter of lorries, from the blare of radio loud-speakers to the blast of motor horns—on the nerves of an average person.

"Our work has already yielded results," says George W. C. Kaye, superintendent of the Physics department of the National Physical Laboratory. "We have managed to silence street drills, and to reduce the noise of airplanes.

"But many noises can only be silenced by legislation. A big area may be annoyed by a lorry lumbering along with a load that clatters, or with broken tires, and motorists may rouse a residential district with continuous tooting."

Legislators Outlaw Noises

"Local authorities in Britain everywhere have declared war on noises," says Professor A. M. Low who has been called in as a consultant by the University of Oxford to reduce noise in that city.

"The problem is one of the most difficult created by the advance of industrial progress. The real trouble is that the ear is on duty all of the time, and even when one is sleeping, loud irritating sounds are conveyed to the brain and affect the nervous system.

"While it is not possible to abolish all noise, the need is to find means of blending sound so that harsh sounds are eliminated."

Sir Maurice Craig, the nerve specialist, says:

"It is now recognized that the noise menace plays a serious part in producing nervous disease, and we shall not rest until the whole problem has been dealt with."

Complete Plans Today for Area Scout Roundup

Expect About 1,200 Persons from This District at Court of Honor To Be Held in The Star Auditorium Thursday Night.

H. W. HAUN

Plans being completed today for the achievement round-up and area court of honor of the Harding Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, to be held in The Star auditorium Thursday night. It will be one of the most elaborate affairs of its kind to be held in the area.

Between 1,100 and 1,200 persons including Scouts and their families and friends, are expected to attend the meeting which will be featured by the presence of H. W. Haun of Columbus, deputy regional Scout executive of Region 4, who will conduct the investiture ceremonies for 70 boys who have recently become Scouts.

Mothers To Get Pins

Another feature of the meeting and one which will be observed in this area for the first time, will be the awarding of miniature badges to the mother's of those scouts receiving badge awards at the court of honor. The mother or guardian of each of the boys who is to be awarded a badge, will take her place at the left side of the boy as they take their position in front of the court of honor, and as the boy is handed his second badge, he will turn and pin it on his mother.

Music both before the program and during the flag ceremony will be furnished by the Harding High school band.

The program as announced by Scout Executive Arthur Brooks, provided for the assembling of the troops on the west side of north State street with Troop 1 in the lead at the auditorium entrance and with other troops in numerical order south to Center street.

Court on Stage

The troops as they march into the auditorium will assemble in an arena to be formed in the front center section of the auditorium facing the stage upon which members of the court of honor, including Alfred Donithen, chairman, George A. Bowman, Rev. C. E. Turley, Judge Oscar Gast, Roy Waddell, John H. Clark, all of Marion, and E. N. Dietrich of Bucyrus, and Rev. E. B. Corwin of Mt. Gilead, will be seated.

WASHOUT FAILS TO BALK BRIDEGROOM

HICKORY FLAT, Miss. — A washed-out bridge and a raging river could not halt Richard Wood, 22, in his journey to the altar.

Wood left his home for the office of Squire John Cook where he was to marry Miss Louise Boren. Arriving at the Tippah river, he found the bridge gone and not a boat in sight.

He stripped off his clothing and swam the river, holding the clothes above his head. He arrived on time for the ceremony and was duly wed.

"ROBBERY" RESULT OF POOR MEMORY

Mother's $13,000 Found, Although Hiding Place Was Changed.

By International News Service

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. — Police and principals in the Webber robbery have decided that it was all a mistake—just a case of old age making its inroads on a 66-year-old mother's memory.

For years Mrs. Sarah Webber of Platteville, Colo., saved her pennies and her dollars. She hoped, when the time came, to have a comfortable legacy to leave to her six sons.

One day, recently, Mrs. Webber went to Denver. She told her son, David, that she had decided to divide her money among her sons. She had about $13,000, she told him.

David went with his mother to her home in Platteville. She pointed out to him where she had hidden her money. In tin cans and other inconspicuous places she had placed it. David looked in the secret caches. The money was gone.

Neighbors told Mrs. Webber that John Webber, a son in Scottbluff, had been at the house during her absence. Police at Scottsbluff questioned John.

Yes, he had the money. He had found it, he said, in a chest which the mother had given him to take home to his small daughter. Stopping at a filling station, he said, he opened the lid of the chest and saw the money in it.

Mrs. Webber didn't just recollect changing the hiding place of the money, but her sons decided her memory was weakening. There was $13,100 in the chest.

DECLARES CO-EDS ARE GOLD-DIGGERS

College Editor Says Their Quest Is for Wealthy Husbands.

By International News Service

TUSCON, Ariz. "Do girls go to college solely to seek husbands?"

Yes, emphatically declares Miss Margaret Rippler, editor of a University of Arizona student literary magazine, who has thrown the campus into turmoil by her caustic statements.

"The average girl goes to a university because it's the best place to meet men with money," Miss Rippler avows. "They can sort the bright and wealthy ones out from the chaff something the hometown folks wouldn't let them do. Only about two per cent of the men students have any real intelligence. Witness the many June marriages every year of gold digging coeds and dumb males."

Most girls, she said, get about one proposal out of every 20 "dates." The average coed, according to Miss Rippler, is engaged from two to ten times during her four years of college.

"But the fraternity pins are taken impassively. The girl doesn't want to experiment too far with love until she is certain she has the best looking, most capable, and wealthiest man she could possibly get."

VARIETY OF JOBS IN STUDENTS' LIST

Census Shows Stanford Youths Try Almost Anything.

By United Press

PALO ALTO, Calif.—How do self-supporting Stanford university students earn money?

According to a recent labor census, they do these things:

Play in orchestras, capture poisonous snakes and rare insects for museums, wait tables, work as newspaper reporters, forest rangers, companions for elderly persons, take care of babies, prepare cadavers for medical schools, paint flagpoles, work as gardeners, lumberjacks, seamen, artists, publicity agents and bilk the freshmen.

Eph Engleman, pre-medical student, for instance, is master of ceremonies for stage shows during vacations. George Webster is a sculptor. One good commission keeps him in school a year.

Johnnie Moore, captain of the 1932 soccer team, ships as a seaman for far ports during summer months and then writes stories about his travels. Fred J. Monteagle catches poisonous snakes and rare insects for museums.

Charles Bubb, Jr., is a proficient musician.

An unnamed youth made considerable money as "radiator engineer." Armed with a cap bearing that legend and bristling with pipe wrenches, he made the rounds of the freshman dormitory and "guaranteed" steam heat for the winter at $2 per room.

ALL THE SAME TO JUDGE, MAN FINDS

Whether a person is intoxicated or just drunk, is all the same to Municipal Judge W. R. Martin.

A prisoner arraigned before Judge Martin this morning on an intoxication charge informed the court that he was perfectly willing to plead guilty to a charge of being drunk but he would absolutely refuse to plead guilty to being intoxicated. The court unable to grasp such a fine distinction, made it plain drunk and assessed the usual fine of $10 and costs.

"ADVISOR" TO WHEAT GROWERS DETAINED

Wichita, Kas., Man Makes Way Here Trading Clothing for Gasoline.

A self-appointed advisor for wheat growers, traveling over the country urging growers to hold their wheat for a price of $1.25 a bushel, became the object of police scrutiny when he arrived in Marion last night. He is being held for investigation in city prison today while authorities make an effort to communicate with his relatives in Wichita, Kans.

He gave his name as Woody Hockaday, 47, of Wichita Kans. He told police he had driven an automobile from that city to Marion on gasoline obtained from filling stations on promise to pay or by leaving some articles of clothing as security. His rapid fire talk gained him a number of loans, he said.

Hockaday was wearing four pairs of trousers when arrested. He had a list of the various articles of clothing he had left at filling stations to secure his payment for gasoline.

Police arrested him in a local restaurant last night. He related details of an elaborate plan to organize the country's wheat growers when questioned by police. He is in possession of considerable literature on wheat growing.

JAPAN REINFORCES SHANGHAI WAR LINES

Soldiers and Supplies Pour Into Battle Sector; Peace Hopes Dim.

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, March 9—Japanese military authorities continued to pour reinforcements and huge quantities of ammunitions and supplies into their lines on the western Shanghai front today.

Four transports arrived at Woosung during the day with an undetermined number of fresh troops. At least 2,000 of these were landed soon after their arrival, and started toward Klangwan.

A large number of additional soldiers remained aboard the transports. With the troops came quantities of supplies and foodstuffs, guns, equipment, ammunition and everything necessary to keep the now large Japanese army in this area fed, clothed and equipped.

It was indicated at the Japanese headquarters that still more reinforcements are expected.

Reports today indicated hope for peace parleys were virtually non-existent, leaving the situation so uncertain that almost any eventuality was possible.

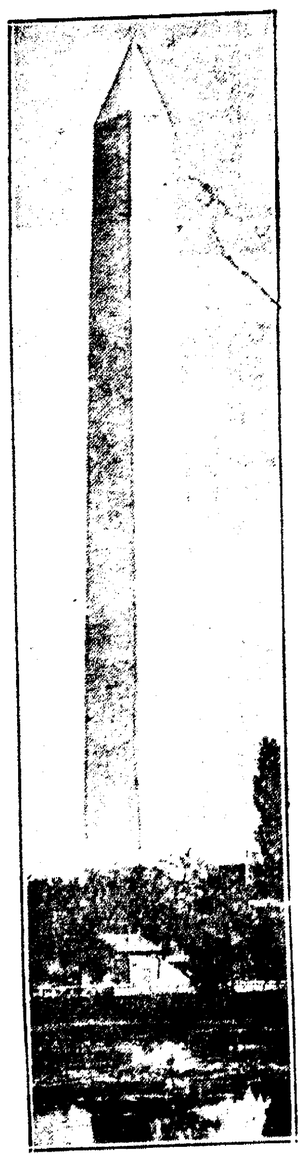
Here's a Wonderful Opportunity To See New



The beautiful Washington Monument in the National Capital.

Every High School Junior and Senior Should Enter This Educational Contest

WASHINGTO 17

Can you imagine a finer trip than this one which we are planning? We leave Marion on our own Pullman car on Friday, June 17th. When we arrive in New York, after the beautiful scenic trip which the Erie Railroad offers, we are met by our own bus which takes us to the Paramount hotel. After dinner we are entertained by an elaborate show in our honor. All next day we drive around New York. We visit Wall street, Fifth avenue, every point of interest in that great city.

That night we have special seats at the Roxy, the world's largest movie. Next day we visit all museums—the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Aquarium, the Museum of Natural History, the Bronx Zoo, etc. We eat lunch on one of the largest ocean liners, and inspect the boat. Next day we have an all day boat ride around New York—up the Hudson and down the East River—through the busy harbor and past the Statue of Liberty. After dinner we leave for Washington. We spend all day seeing Washington—the White House—the Capitol—all the sights of interest—then we go to Mt. Vernon and Alexandria, the birthplace of Washington—then to Arlington and the National Cemetery—then back to New York to board our own train for Marion.

The whole trip lasts five days. We travel first class at all times. Four chaperones are present throughout the trip. Every single cent of expense is paid. What a wonderful opportunity to see the cities that mean most to our country. Not a cent has been spared to make this vacation trip one that will never be forgotten.

Purdue Stars Dominate Big Ten Honorary Court Team

FOUR BOILERMAKERS GIVEN POSITIONS IN FIRST TWO LINEUPS

Joe Hoffer Only Ohio State Man Mentioned; Makes Second Five.

BY PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Mar. 9.—Purdue championship [illegible] nated the [illegible] honorary Big Ten [illegible] selected for The Associated Press by conference [illegible] two stars on the first team and other pair on the second and two more on the honorable mention list.

Their fame [illegible] of the hard woods, Johnny Wooden [illegible] the champ; one [illegible] of the [illegible] straight year. Two other famous sharpshooters [illegible] Big Ten cage world, Joe [illegible] Northwestern and Norman [illegible] of Michigan landed on the first team for the second straight season by unanimous votes.

Wooden played at running guard where he has dazzled Purdue's cage foes for three years was accompanied on the first team by his co-captain, Harry Kellar, who was voted the left forward post with 11 out of a possible 20 votes. The other guard position on the first team went to Virgil Licht of Minnesota.

All 10 Big Ten coaches cast ballots and only one declined to name a second team. Two points were counted for a first team nomination and one point for a second team selection. Hence, 20 points gathered by Wooden, Daniels and Reiff, was a maximum.

So clear cut was the rated superiority of the first team personnel that only one berth was close in the voting. That involved Light and Joe Hoffer of Ohio State. The Minnesota star winning by a count of 12 to 10.

"Chuck" Stewart and "Dutch" Fehring other members of the Purdue championship cast, were on the honorable mention list with Stewart getting two votes and Fehring one for center.

METHODISTS BEATEN BY CHRISTIAN FIVE

Church Champs Prove Right to Title by Winning Final Game in Tourney 37-32.

[illegible] Sunday school basketball [illegible] last night [illegible] capture of the city Sunday school championship was [illegible] out in the [illegible] season elimination [illegible] and nosing Epworth Methodists 37 to 32. The Christians defeated Epworth by one point in the game they lost and the church title was their's. Only two games were originally scheduled for last night but the tourney was continued on agreement of the two team managers.

Carol Carls pocked the major scoring punch of the Christians in their battle with Epworth last night. Carls hit the net for a total of 12 points collecting five field goals and two free throws. Bud Partridge led the losers with 14 points.

Epworth held a lead over the Christians for the first two periods of the game but the champs overtook the Methodists in the third period and [illegible] to lead the rest of the game. The score at the half was [illegible] for Epworth. The Christians [illegible] into a 27-26 advantage at the end of the third period. [illegible] a defense which somewhat in the final frame and the Christians steadily widened the margin separating the two teams as the game progressed.

The Christians won their way to the final game with Epworth, by topping the skids under Forest Lawn in the first game of the evening by a score of 43-19. Forest Lawn was not able to check the high powered attack of the champions and consequently was never very much in the game.

Epworth turned back Trinity Baptist in the semi final encounter, winning by a score of 32-20. Trinity failed to get its attack functioning in the first half and was not able to make up the gap between the two scores in the final two periods.

POSTPONED AGAIN

For the second time in three days the proposed game between West Side Reformed of the Marion county church league and Central Christians of the city Sunday school circuit has been postponed. The game, originally scheduled for Saturday night was moved to Thursday of this week and now has been moved up to Tuesday of next week. The second change was made at the request of Waldo.

The preliminary girls game between two all-star county girls teams will not be played. Inability to get a definite playing date set has necessitated cancelling the girls game.

Son of Mike Gibbons Gets First Test in Fight Circle

By The Associated Press

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 9.—Only time will tell whether the old saw "like father, like son," was right.

But boxing fans will get a rough idea of its veracity when Young Jack Gibbons climbs through the ropes at a Golden Gloves tournament Thursday and Friday just as his famous father Mike, the phantom, climbed into the squared circles 15 years ago.

No one knows, except his father, just how good the 19-year-old Detroit university student is but his performance during the tournament was expected by friends, to give them a line on the boy's latent ability.

If he shows well, his father may grant a further concession and let him become a professional if he wills. But not until the youth's university work is completed.

RAN TAKES PLACE OF BILLY PETROLLE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 9.—Billy Petrolle has a stiff neck and won't be able to fight this Friday night but Christopher (Kat) Battalino is doing no cheering because of that.

When Petrolle announced he wouldn't be able to go through with his 12-round match with the former featherweight champion, Promoter Jimmy Johnston got busy and dug up Billy Ran of Poland as a substitute.

The Polish youngster can knock them kicking with that right hand of his and Battalino would do extremely well to be extremely cautious. Ran's last two fights have ended in knockouts.

Recruits Look Good.

SAN FRANCISCO.—When the management of the San Francisco Seals protested against the dearth of regulars in the lineup of the Detroit Tigers for the training schedule opener, Manager Bucky Harris remarked, it is possible those recruits may be the 1932 regulars. They lived up to his advance notice yesterday by pounding three Seal pitchers for 16 hits and winning under wraps, 12 to 7.

STOCK SHARES SAG SLIGHTLY

Market Does Little Trading Until Fog of Uncertainty Lifts.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 9—The stock market had apparently dropped anchor pending lifting of the fog of uncertainty obscuring the business outlook, today, but Wall street remained cheerful as bonds continued to push ahead.

The share market sagged a little in the morning trading, but selling soon dried up, and traces of bullish activity appeared in some of the food shares. By early afternoon, the general level was barely changed from the previous session's close.

Radio and American & Foreign Power were under considerable pressure for a time, both sagging about a point. American Telephone and Consolidated Gas also yielded moderately. In the first half hour, some effort was made to bid up the rails, and for a time there were numerous gains of a point or so in that group. U. S. Steel fluctuated in a narrow range. Some of the packing company issues, notably the Armour and Wilson preferred issues, gained 2 to 3 points. Beatrice Creamery rose more than a point. Some buying developed in Stone & Webster. Oils failed in the main to continue their upswing of the previous day, but the Tidewater-Associated issues were firm.

Buying by the Ford Motor Co. thus far was said to have been negligible, but rumors in automobile circles today had it that the company would start active production of its new 8-cylinder model within a week. Total automobile output for March is now being estimated at around 150,000 units, as against about 118,000 in February.

The weekly petroleum figures showed the small decline of 132,000 barrels in stocks of gasoline in storage, which, small as it is represented the first reduction in several weeks.

CORN LEADS GRAINS HIGHER

Grains Score General Advance on Report of Increased Exports.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 9 — Grain prices advanced today after a wavering start. Relative strength of corn was a feature, with reports prevalent that export business in corn had taken place. Opening unchanged to ⅛ lower, wheat afterward scored a general upturn. Corn started unchanged to ⅛ higher and subsequently rose all around.

Speculative buying both of corn and wheat resulted from word that 120,000 bushels of No. 2 corn had been taken for shipment from the United States to Great Britain. This was the first corn export business which had been done in months. Export bids for additional quantities of corn at 1½ cents under the market were noted. Fairly good overnight export business in wheat was likewise announced, with some foreign purchasing of rye.

Contributing to bullish sentiment were official advices that snow covering in various sections of domestic winter wheat territory was scanty, and that in various places the ground was bare. Some Kansas messages reported soil blowing. There was also a renewal of famine advices from Russia and assertions that in the Caucasus the winter had been the most severe in 140 years. Corn and oats showed firmness even when wheat at times underwent reactions.

Provisions were steadied by upturns in hog values.

PATTERN 2288

Step-by-Step Instruction Diagrams Given with This Pattern.

It's very smart, too, this adorable little model with yoke, sleeves and side panels cut in one. Added chic is given with the scalloped styling of the sleeves and the rows of shirring in the front panel. If you wish you might smock the front panel for a delightful effect. Dimity swiss, georgette or crepe de chine would be lovely for frock and bloomers.

Pattern 2288 is obtainable only in sizes 2, 4, 6, 8, 10. Size 4 requires 2¼ yards of 36-inch fabric.

MEET CARDINALS IN EXHIBITION BATTLE

SANTA CATALINA ISLAND—On the eve of departure from this glamorous island, Manager Rogers Hornsby has just about decided on the makeup of the Chicago Cub outfield.

The utility outfield jobs lie among Vance Page, Dan Taylor, Johnny Moore and Marvin Gudat.

• • •

LOS ANGELES—John McGraw of the New York Giants has room for two utility infielders to fill in for his regulars, Terry, Critz, Vergez and Jackson, and there are four aspirants for the vacancies.

Eddie Moore, Eddie Marshall, Sam Leslie and Gilbert English, are after the jobs.

• • •

ST. PETERSBURG—It used to be Johnny Allen in the New York Yankees' training camp but from now on it probably will be "Zipper."

He collected the new "tag" from the way he "zipped" the ball past the Babe Ruth's team in a practice game yesterday. He allowed only two hits and fanned four in three innings.

Browns Ready To Go.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — With only four players missing now, officials of the St. Louis Browns expected today to have the squad playing at concert pitch by the end of this week. Goose Goslin and Benny Bengough haven't signed yet, but as they are in camp, the club officials apparently are worrying little about the possibility that wage negotiations might fail. Only absentees now are Walter Stewart, star southpaw; "Rip" Collins, right-hander; Ralph Kress, infielder, and Rick Ferrell, first-string backstop.

Baby in Hopewell Area or Smuggl... Away Over Sea, Is Growing Beli...

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 9 - The Lindbergh baby is within 125 miles of Hopewell or was smuggled away by sea—that is the feeling that is growing among those who have analyzed the crime.

The child was stolen from his crib between 8:30 and 9:15 p. m. as near as experts on the job can deduce. By midnight or shortly thereafter the tightest and best law enforcement agencies in the east can devise was clamped on a territory within several hundred miles of Hopewell.

It is barely possible—but in the eyes of experts not at all probable—that the kidnapers continued to travel in an automobile with the infant after dawn. Highways, bridges, tunnels and everywhere else were scanning cars inside and out.

Most Plausible Theory

The best guess is that if the child was spirited away by automobile, its captors halted and went into hiding before the alarm that worried the world was spreading over the wires. If they were able to travel 35 miles an hour (a high average over the rocky Sourland roads) they could have reached, before the crime was generally known, such places as New York City, lower New York state or Connecticut, eastern Pennsylvania, parts of Delaware or Maryland—or the sea coast.

The possibility that they made their way to the Jersey shore to Delaware bay or to Chesapeake bay and fled in some craft, big or little, to any of a thousand and one secluded spots far away from the hub or the hue and cry is not being neglected. Coast guardsmen here, however, have said they had no orders to search vessels for the baby and his captors.

Even the possibility that the baby (perhaps in a suit case) was taken aboard a transatlantic liner, has been considered—although this is thought unlikely. Three large liners sailed for Europe March 2.

Where Search Centers

Within that 125-mile circle drawn about Hopewell has occurred the most intense effort of the authorities to find the baby—indicating that they still cling to the theory that he was not carried any great distance from his home.

Of course, some officers point out, there is always the bare possibility that a plane figured in the kidnaping, but this is thought virtually impossible, since it is harder to arrive anywhere in a plane without attracting attention than it would be in other forms of transportation.
